In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

"Well," said Leo Nimsick after Thursday's clash between Highways Minister Gagliardi and the Opposition, "if we can now get down to earth..."

And this the down-to-earth NDP member for Cranbrook did, with a pitch for the Salmo-Creston cutoff, and a general appeal for an increased secondary road allotment.

It was a day for the country members, the men from the outer ridings. To ears bashed by considerable recent storm and strike, their speeches make pleasant listening.

Here is Dan Campbell for Comox rising on the government side to urge an up-Island ferry service which would coax more than the present four per cent of tourists to venture north of Nanaimo.

Why Not a Ferry?

The three-million-dollar upgrading project which will take the blacktop on from Campbell River to Kelsey Bay is soon to be completed, Mr. Campbell pointed out. So why not establish a ferry service between Kelsey Bay and Prince Rupert?

"I'm not just talking for my constituency," said Mr. Campbell; then went on to air the durable dream of a coast-highway south from Rupert.

As an alternate, Mr. Campbell—not for the first time—proposed a Comox-Powell River ferry connection. What he visions is a year-round passenger and freight service. The reason so small a percentage of tourists go up-Island, he explained, is that they don't like to retrace the route to Nanaimo. A ferry from Comox would do away with the necessity to backtrack, and would also ease the Comox Valley farmer and dairyman's way to mainland markets.

Proceeds Headlong

Presently Don Robinson, floor, Mr. Robinson has an amiable way of proceeding headlong, as if he must deliver himself of his speech in a single breath.

A proper road from Lytton to Lillooet, Don Robinson wants, instead of the present tourist-scarer which he feels keeps his backside from his share of the summer pilgrim bonanza.

This and a new highway, "a post road," from Cache Creek to Vancouver.

Mr. Robinson, an inveterate story-teller, looks around with his wide smile, then yields the floor to a lady member we haven't much heard from—Mrs. Margaret Hobbs, NDP, Revelstoke.

Access From East

Mrs. Hobbs has a fine, clear voice. She urges a second access approach road for Revelstoke, one entering from the east. This would allow traffic to come in from one direction and leave by the other, and fewer motorists would detour down to the United States.

Special mention here for Alex Macdonald of Vancouver East, who gave us words worth heeding.

"The Nelson countryside is lovely," Mr. Macdonald said, rising after Municipal Affairs Minister Black had hailed industrial progress in his riding. "It is rural—bucolic—truly beautiful. So he (Mr. Black) wants it industrial centre. Well, good luck to them, and I'd like to see them get their roads. But I'd also like to see this province progress to the point where rural areas aren't sacrificed to industry."

"One beauty of this province," Mr. Macdonald concluded, "is that in it, we still have living room."

TWO KILLED IN BLAST ON TEXADA ISLAND

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Two men were killed and a third was injured in a dynamite explosion in an iron ore quarry Thursday night on Texada Island, about 55 miles northwest of Vancouver.

RCMP said the three men, employees of Texada Mines Ltd., were preparing a dynamite blast about 11:30 p.m. in the quarry when the charge erupted.

Willis Leonard Roch of Texada Island and a second worker died in the blast which shook the quarry. The third man, whose name is being withheld, was taken by RCMP boat to hospital here in fairly good condition.

'ANOTHER STALL'

Gov't Blocks RCMP Report

By FRANK RUTTER

The B.C. government Thursday blocked a bid to put a secret RCMP report into the hands of the committee investigating highway graft allegations.

Attorney General Robert Bonner indicated approval will never be given.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan said it is obvious the government wants only a "perfunctory" investigation of the allegations.

"They're willing to gloss over material of this kind,"

The report concerns Project 819, the section of Trans-Canada Highway which sparked the allegations by Montana contractor Dick Holzworth.

The House committee on public accounts, assisted by a lawyer, is hearing the case. Chairman Irvine Corbett (SC—Yale) asked leave of the House Thursday for the committee to get the RCMP report and study it in camera.

Mr. Corbett and another So. Sec. Dan Campbell of Comox, had bolted party ranks in the committee to support the request.

'PUBLIC POLICY'

But Mr. Bonner turned it down flat in the House.

"Have to oppose—public policy," was his terse rejection.

"Shocking," said Dave Barrett (Dewdney).

Mr. Bonner later told reporters that it was normal that in any procedure a police report goes only to the prosecuting attorney, or the advising lawyer—never to the judge or tribunal involved.

In this case the only person who has seen the report is the committee counsel, Lloyd G. McKenzie.

FOR GUIDANCE

This was for his guidance in seeking witnesses, Mr. Bonner said. It was a "very special professional responsibility."

The report was not evidence. It was hearsay, Mr. Bonner said.

"The people of this committee don't understand the position they're putting themselves in."

"Every concept of fair play and due procedure is violated by this."

The report contains names of many people who talked to the police about "an unrelated matter."

"Police reports are not published as a matter of public policy."

"BLACKGUARDING"

"In the hands of an unscrupulous government they could be used to blackguard everyone in sight."

"I don't recall anything which throws any light on the padding of accounts."

"It is obvious the government does not want the full light of publicity to fall on the affairs under investigation," Mr. Strachan said.

"It's evident, further, that the government itself are prepared to put any block they can in the way of members of the committee in obtaining the fullest possible information on Project 819."

Russians Hedge On Troop Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union appears to have fallen behind in fulfillment of its promise to get several thousand troops out of Cuba by mid-March but indications are that a large group will be leaving Havana this weekend.

For the last several days normally well-informed officials have declined to discuss numbers of troops that have left Cuba so far. The problem appears to be one of analyzing and checking intelligence reports to determine exactly what has happened.

'I GUESS IT WAS JUST GOD'S WILL'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"I prayed, 'Dear God, help me.' I knew there was very much danger."

With the screams of 80 children ringing in her ears, 34-year-old Mrs. Delta Edwards steered a runaway school bus down a steep ramp and across a heavily travelled boulevard to a safe stop.

Only three children and Mrs. Edwards were hurt. They suffered cuts and bruises as the bus, its brakes useless, glanced off a guard rail and bounced over a curb into a median strip.

"I guess it was just God's will that Mrs. Edwards found a gap in the heavy traffic," said a policeman who saw the hair-raising ride.

The report concerns Project 819, the section of Trans-Canada Highway which sparked the allegations by Montana contractor Dick Holzworth.

By FRANK RUTTER and AB KENT

Hearings into highway graft charges have been adjourned until Monday after new protests that the government is trying to block evidence.

Thursday night highway construction director E. C. Webster was cross-examined by Opposition leader Robert Strachan on why there was an increase in amounts due a contractor, and why a certain firm won a contract after initial

It was the sixth hearing of the legislature's public accounts committee and it played to a full house again at the Law courts.

When the hearings resume, the opposition members of the 13-man committee are expected to continue tackling Mr. Webster on Montana contractor Dick Holzworth's charges that figures were changed to allow payment for work never done.

Mr. Webster says the changes were to allow a "pickup" of some $100,000 for past work.

Mr. Strachan Thursday challenged him on how much extra could have been done, but did not complete his questioning.

The hearing opened with some 50 standees clogging the two aisles in court room D, where earlier arrivals filled the 80 public seats.

Leo Nimsick (NDP—Cranbrook) asked if there had been any action regarding the appearance of two RCMP witnesses to the hearing—the two officers who investigated alleged malpractices in connection with highway contracts.

"Not yet," chairman Irvine Corbett (SC—Yale) replied, asking secretary Dan Campbell (SC—Comox) whether letters had been written to the men, and whether committee counsel Lloyd McKenzie had been in touch with them.

"I thought they had been contacted. They can be made available," the chairman said.

Mr. Nimsick asked if Burton Lyburner, alleged "contact man" for the road contractor

ONE DEAD, FOUR HURT BY TERRORIST BOMB

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A French businessman was killed and at least three Americans, two Vietnamese servants and two Vietnamese children were injured in terrorist grenade explosions here tonight.

The Frenchman was killed and the Americans and servants injured in a blast at a villa, where an American businessman, Douglas Campbell, was holding a party.

The grenade was reported thrown by two young men on a motorcycle speeding past the villa.

8,000 Cheer Liberal Chief

By ALEX YOUNG

Times Ottawa Bureau

LONDON, Ont.—The Pearson election campaign caught fire Thursday night in this centre of what has been known as "Tory Ontario."

More than 8,000 persons—by far the largest turnout attracted by the Liberal leader in this campaign—cheered and applauded Mr. Pearson at three separate meetings.

An estimated 6,300 jammed the London Arena, the city's largest hall, while some 2,000 others were kept out by civic officials who said more overcrowding would create a fire hazard. So the Liberal party hastily hired the auditorium and cafeteria of London South Collegiate, half a mile from the arena, to accommodate the overflow audience.

After delivering his speech to the main arena rally, Mr. Pearson then visited the collegiate to deliver two more speeches—one in the school auditorium and one in the cafeteria.

He was rewarded with enthusiastic response, enlivened by heckling from a handful of critics in the arena crowd, at all three meetings.

He found general approval for his declaration that his approach to the campaign was "the hard line and the high line."

Without mentioning Diefenbaker by name, Mr. Pearson delivered some of his most cutting criticisms of the campaign at the prime minister, "Performances" and "shows" were only minor part of a campaign, he said.

People were less concerned with "manufactured martyrdom" than they were with who could best manage the nation's affairs.

"I don't refer to these Canadians we hope to help as 'the little man' or 'common man' who are 'all on my side,'" he said, in an apparent response to the claim by Mr. Diefenbaker that everybody is against him but the people and to the Diefenbaker assertion that he is accused of doing too much for the little man.

"I am concerned," said Mr. Pearson, "to put public integrity above party considerations. The people of Canada are expecting that. They are taking this election very seriously, indeed."

DEAL WITH ISSUES

By the "hard line," he said, he meant that a hard approach had to be taken because Canada's problems were serious, with financial affairs in "disorder."

The London demonstration of Liberal support caused jubilation among Liberal party officials. They said they had taken a big gamble, trying to fill the arena as the prime minister had done when he opened his campaign here in the 1962 election.

The rally, as was Mr. Diefenbaker's last year, was advertised as a "western Ontario rally, drawing on the 23 constituencies of southwestern Ontario for support."

Of those 23 ridings, the Liberals won nine in 1962, with the Tories winning 14; this was a loss of eight by the Tories.

This is one area in which the Liberals have been hoping to make further significant gains from the Conservatives on April 8. After Thursday

Lose Chance At Title

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Defending champion Sweden knocked Canada out of the world hockey championships today, defeating Trail Smoke Eaters 4-1 in a crucial sixth-round game.

The Swedes need only a tie against Czechoslovakia Sunday to nail down their second world crown in succession.

It was Sweden's sixth straight win.

Ulf Sterner was the scoring star for the winners, firing their first three goals. Fourth was contributed by Sven Johansson.

Smoke Eaters ran into real trouble in the first period and were fortunate to finish the first 20 minutes down 1-0.

Sweden outshot the Canadian team 16 to 5, but it was not until the 18-minute mark that Sterner fired his first goal.

The Smokies started to untangle in the second period and managed to tie the score when playing with a man advantage.

Defenceman Don Fletcher scored on a play with Jones. Smokies were short-handed for six straight minutes in the period but played good defensive hockey.

PENALTIES HURT

Penalties cost the Smokies dearly in the third period.

After Sweden had held off the Canadian team when Norlander picked up a penalty at 7:27 the Swedes put on the pressure as McLeod was banished at 10:34. He was followed by Lennox at 13:52 and four seconds later Sterner beat goalie Seth Martin with what proved the winning goal.

Smokies went all-out in an effort to get the tying goal, but on two quick breakaways Sweden put the issue beyond doubt.

Crippling Rail Strike
Hits France

PARIS (Reuters)—A 24-hour strike by railroad workers today almost paralyzed transportation in France, already hard hit by long walkouts of miners and gas workers and lightning work stoppages in other industries.

The rail strike, which began at 4 a.m., was reported between 80 and 100 per cent effective in various parts of the country.

The stoppage by the 350,000 railroad workers brought the number of Frenchmen on strike to more than 600,000.

Harshest hit was Paris where big traffic jams built up as commuters headed for work by car instead of rail.

The rail strike was called in protest against a government decision to send claims for higher wages and shorter work weeks to a newly-established committee of "wise men" overseeing wages in state-run industries.

Bidault Won't Trade Inaction for Safety

STEINBACH, West Germany (AP)—Former French premier Georges Bidault said today he will not trade his political struggle for security. He added that he still considers himself the leader of the opposition to President de Gaulle.

Bidault was interviewed shortly after Bavarian authorities announced he would have to agree to sharp restrictions if he wants asylum in West Germany.

many Bavarian Interior Minister Heinrich Junker had said such conditions would include limitation of his movements and a permanent police escort.

"I am rather hesitant to make any comment," Bidault said. "But I will certainly not trade political activity for security."

"I am the leader of the Council of National Resistance; I am the boss of it all."

6,000 Students Demonstrate

VANCOUVER (CP)—An estimated 6,000 placard-carrying university students marched five abreast down Burrard Street late Thursday in a mass demonstration protesting insufficient funds for higher education.

The students jammed traffic along the street, a main route to the downtown area.

Several motorcycle police escorted the parade but there were no incidents.

The students later massed on the lawns of the court house, stopping cars and pedestrians and asking them to sign a petition to the provincial government.

The petition said the University of British Columbia was underpaid by $1,800,000 in its operating grant this year and more money was needed urgently for higher education in the province.

Dr. John Norris, UBC professor of history, told the student assembly at the court house: "Governments are supposed to listen to the people; if they don't listen, then the people aren't saying anything."

To wild cheers, he said "We are going to become politicians engaged in friendly persuasion."

"We are dead serious about this. Do we want to become the undeveloped sump of the Western world?"

Douglas Stewart, a former president of the Alma Mater Society, told the students: "Operation crisis has begun. Go out and get your petitions signed."

After 30 minutes at the court house the students dispersed heading into downtown streets seeking signatures for the petition.

Petitioning Ban At High Schools

Victoria high schools have been barred from participating in a Victoria College campaign for a boost in higher education grants.

John Gough, superintendent of School District 61, said today: "We do not agree with student participation in something of political significance."

He said the decision was reached without reference to the school board.

The announcement followed an attempt Thursday by college students to put high school students—the college students of tomorrow, to work on the current petition drive.

GAVE SPEECHES

But before the boom was lowered, college student council representatives gave speeches to student bodies at Mount View, Esquimalt and Oak Bay High School.

And petition forms were left at the schools.

It was the latest move by the college students to muster support for their protest against government action in providing the college with only 40 per cent of the increased operational grant requested for 1963.

16,000 SIGNATURES

By nightfall Thursday the students had collected 16,000 signatures from lower island residents.

Before dispatching petitioners to points as far away as Duncan, about 500 students conducted an orderly demonstration at the Legislative Buildings.

Student council president Alf Petersen today said he hopes to obtain 30,000 signatures. A similar campaign is being waged on a wider basis by students at University of B.C.

In fact, some UBC students were already at work collecting names in Duncan when Victoria College advance guards arrived there.

Petitioning in both areas will continue tonight at all shopping centres, and over the weekend.

UBC Head Unmoved By Poverty Pleas

The president of the University of British Columbia is unimpressed by pleas of poverty when it comes to education spending.

Dr. John B. Macdonald told an audience of 80 at Victoria College Thursday evening that the average expenditure per student in Canadian universities is $1,896.

But at UBC, the budget limit is $1,207, he said.

FORMER associate defence minister, Pierre Sevigny, who resigned from the cabinet over the nuclear arms issue, announced Thursday he will be the Progressive Conservative candidate in the Quebec riding of Lougheuil in the April 8 election.

"I am not impressed when I hear we cannot afford more funds for education," he said.

He said the per capita cost of universities is $18.57 in Oregon, $17.83 in Washington and $7.08 in Alberta.

But in British Columbia it is only $3.91, he told the meeting sponsored by Greater Victoria Current Affairs Council.

40,000 BY 1970
Dr. Macdonald said B.C.'s university registration of 17,000 will reach 40,000 by 1970.

He denied the oft-heard statement that Canada exports its talent to the U.S. In fact, there is a favorable balance in the student exchange between nations, he said.

"We are, for example, gaining engineers from areas outside Canada. Migration and exchange of talent is important and useful," he said.

However, Canada has to boost its percentage of highly trained people. This nation has only 25 per cent of its working force in the skilled labor class. In the U.S. it's 50 per cent.

Canada has 6 per cent professional men, the U.S. 18 per cent, he said.

In British Columbia only 9 per cent of today's Grade 12 pupils will go to university and 6 per cent will graduate. The U.S. percentages are many times higher, Dr. Macdonald added.

He said the crisis in education is just beginning in Canada.

Gaglardi Baffled by Own Ads on Road Bids

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi, Thursday admitted he doesn't know what his departmental tender advertisements mean.

"If you don't know, you don't deserve to be minister," said opposition leader Robert Strachan.

"That could be so," Mr. Gaglardi muttered.

The incident occurred in the legislature when tempers frayed by the committee investigation of highway graft charges snapped and the issue became a brief free-for-all debate.

OUT TO "GET" HIM

Premier Bennett accused the opposition of running a campaign against Mr. Gaglardi. Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan suggested the NDP was trying to "get" him.

What started it was a question by Mr. Strachan about tender advertisements which differed.

Mr. Strachan said that some advertisements required bidders to supply a bond amounting to 5 per cent of the bid price plus a performance bond of 100 per cent of the bid price.

But other advertisements required only the 5 per cent and no performance bond.

Mr. Gaglardi admitted this was so, and that it had happened on the projects which have been in dispute at the graft hearings—$19 and 1023.

Mr. Strachan asked how the government decided which projects needed the 100 per cent bond and which did not.

"We don't know—we've never followed this," Mr. Gaglardi said.

"Who changed that word I don't know—neither my men nor myself."

It must have been a clerical error, he said.

Mr. Strachan replied that a whole long section of the advertisements had disappeared, not just one word.

"I have never been able to find out why and I admit it," Mr. Gaglardi said.

Mr. Gaglardi said the actual policy has been to accept 5 per cent of the bid as a bond.

MORE TROUBLE

If that was so, Mr. Strachan said, Mr. Gaglardi was in a lot more trouble than he thought.

"I'm not in any trouble, for in my department I've walked a straight line," Mr. Gaglardi cried.

Mr. Gaglardi said he didn't "enter into" contract negotiations until his departmental officials placed a recommended contract award on his desk.

Then Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan) repeated a plea he made earlier in the session for payment to some sub-contractors in his riding involved in Project 1023. Mr. Gaglardi earlier said they would be paid if they proved they had done their work.

But Thursday Attorney General Robert Bonner told the House that it was a civil matter between the sub-contractors and the main contractor.

When Mr. Harding persisted, the highways minister shouted: "I deplore the disintegration of moral principles on the floor of this House and your attitude."

There was uproar.

"I'm pleased and am honored to be accused by this man," Mr. Harding said.

But Thursday Attorney General Robert Bonner told the House that it was a civil mat-

DIEFENBAKER IN 'DISTRESS'

HALIFAX (CP)—The federal government's Ralston Building flew the Red Ensign upside-down—an international distress signal—for several hours today.

The distress was limited to red-faced officials.

A spokesman for the works department said: "This is very embarrassing, especially with Prime Minister Diefenbaker in town."

July 1 Set as 'U' Day For Victoria College

The University of Victoria will become a reality on July 1 and retired County Court Judge J. B. Clearihue, now college council chairman, is the first chancellor.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson Thursday introduced the legislation making it official.

The new Universities Act also creates a completely new university—Simon Fraser.

It establishes policy ground rules and general powers for the two new universities as well as the existing University of B.C.

It provides for the setting up of an advisory board to recommend how much money the government should give each year to the three universities and another board to advise on their academic standards.

MORE MONEY

Another section empowers the cabinet to spend extra money this year on higher education if needed.

Mr. Peterson said outside the legislature that he intends to see the two boards and a pioneer board of governors for Simon Fraser by July 1, when the legislation comes into effect.

Mr. Peterson also introduced to the House a separate bill incorporating B.C.'s first private university—Notre Dame at Nelson.

The government will have no direct power over the policy or curriculum, however, it would have an indirect means of policing the private university through the new academic advisory board. The board has power to report on "any matters" respecting higher education standards and development.

Mr. Peterson did not indicate whether or not extra funds will in fact be recommended this year for higher education, but he said he is hopeful that the federal government will increase its contributions.

Mr. Peterson said the legislation does not change any major powers or policies of Victoria College or UBC, but makes them much more flexible and more autonomous.

AFFILIATES

It also grants all three universities the right to have affiliates.

There will be major changes in the government of Victoria's new university involving a large number of appointments to be made by July 1, some within two months.

College council chairman Clearihue is made automatic chancellor by the legislation.

At present Victoria College has a principal and a council of 11. It is completely subject to the UBC Senate and board of governors.

The new legislation cuts the apron-strings completely.

U of V's new board of governors will consist of 11: the chancellor, the president, three members elected by the new Senate and six members appointed by the provincial cabinet.

The new Senate will consist of the chancellor, the president, deans of faculties plus one member elected by each faculty, any other deans the Senate itself desires, the librarian, a member elected by each affiliate of the university, four members appointed by the cabinet, only one of which can be a B.C. education department official, a minimum of six, maximum of 15 members of the convocation, any members the Senate chooses from organizations which contribute to the provincial good.

plus an equivalent number of members chosen by the faculties.

Mr. Peterson said each of the universities will be represented on the finance advisory board.

GOVT CONTROL

The board will have equal numbers appointed by the universities and the education minister. But the government will have control, because it appoints the chairman.

The board will recommend how grants should be split, but the government will still have the final say on what it does with its money.

The academic board will consist of two members chosen by each university Senate and three cabinet-appointed members.

It will choose its own chairman.

JOSEPH CLEARIHUE

Separatism Warning

MONTREAL (CP) — Lionel dence in the Canadian government, former Liberal minister, said Thursday.

port minister, said Thursday night a Progressive Conservative victory in the April 8 federal election could lead to separatism in Quebec province.

"If by chance Prime Minister Diefenbaker regains power, there would be a 40-per-cent chance that separation ensues because French - Canadians would no longer have confidence in the government."

Inquiry or Shouting Match?

ON OCCASIONS, THE INQUIRY by the committee on public accounts into allegations against the provincial highway department has degenerated into a shouting match—nothing more.

Opposing factions on the committee itself have made no secret of their mistrust of one another. Tempers have flared. Harsh words have been exchanged by committee members and committee counsel. At one point a sitting became so unruly it required an adjournment to restore order.

This may be no more than should have been expected. It is not, however, the atmosphere of calm, judicial investigation which the gravity of the question under study should ensure.

The opposition, having demanded a royal commission to look into the matter, was forced to accept the government's majority vote conveying the issue to committee on public accounts—a committee on which the government has a majority of eight to five.

The opposition minority has felt under no compulsion to sit quietly through the sessions letting the majority lead the way. Nor have government members endured criticism lightly.

The public has good reason to wonder if this is an emotionless tribunal concerned solely with the pursuit of facts and uninfluenced by political differences within the membership.

This is an unusual board from which to expect cool, unimpassioned judgment. But it is the board on which Mr. Bennett and his government insisted for the investigation.

It never should have been given the job. The proper course would have been to establish a judicial inquiry. If Mr. Bennett does not appreciate that fact now, he must be almost a minority of one in the province.

Crime Moving Ahead

CHIEF JOHN BLACKSTOCK has listed several factors which he believes are contributing to the advancement of crime in Victoria.

A larger population naturally includes its percentage of people who commit crimes. The protection Victoria once enjoyed because it was difficult for criminals to get off the Island quickly is disappearing as better transportation facilities give them easier means of escape. The steadily increasing number of juvenile offenders provides the material from which more serious criminals are made.

This is a practical assessment of a situation which should, and does, disturb the average law-abiding citizen. To overcome the disadvantages of growth, special efforts must be made and new policies followed.

No one would recommend reduction in transportation services which, though they may contribute to the mobility of criminals, are much more important as improvements in the daily life of this community.

And there is no way to screen out all potential criminals who take up residence in Victoria from other parts of the country and the world unless they are on wanted lists.

Of course Victoria, like any other city, recognizing the new dimensions of crime in all its varieties, looks for improved police work to counteract this trend. At the same time the average citizen might very profitably examine his own reaction to the smaller offences which have a habit of growing into larger misdemeanors. If he condones illegal action because it seems relatively insignificant, he should not be surprised if his attitude encourages more serious offences by those who got away with the apparently unimportant ones.

But if there is one source of potential crime about which something can be done in a preventive way, it lies in the realm of juvenile delinquency. Here, as elsewhere in the world, adults have been talking about the subject for a long time. Unfortunately talk is no substitute for effective action.

There seems to be general agreement on the superiority of prevention to remedial action in this field. And it should not be difficult to determine where preventive action can be taken.

The Canadian Corrections Association, a division of the Canadian Welfare Council, in a recent brief to the Department of Justice committee on juvenile delinquency, set out again a point previously raised by those who have studied the question.

The association specifically recommended an approach to the problem through the lower school grades. At that stage of a child's development, teachers and skilled social workers could pick out potential problem children. And at that age they were young enough, in the opinion of most experts, to respond to corrective treatment.

This approach was recommended in Victoria four or five years ago. It seems one of the constructive ways of trying to cope with the juvenile before he develops latent delinquency.

Unfortunately little, if any, action has been taken on the proposal. In the meantime conditions have reached the point where Chief Blackstock draws public attention to the increasing criminal activities of young people that are a source of growing concern to the public.

Stepping Up at Oak Bay

PARENTS OF THE DISTRICT will note with satisfaction the Greater Victoria School Board's appointment of Mr. J. G. Wallace to succeed retiring principal Charles A. Gibbard at Oak Bay High School.

The choice is a happy one, recognizing as it does the excellent teamwork which has existed between Mr. Wallace, as vice-principal, and his senior for the last 10 years, as well as with the rest of an excellent staff. Moreover, the elevation of the second in command is a tradition at Oak Bay—a policy which saw Gordon Downes follow H. P. Hope, J. S. Whittemore temporarily follow Mr. Downes, and Mr. Gibbard follow

D. H. Hartness, after the short inter-regnum of Mr. J. M. Billings.

The practice, observed since Mr. Gibbard first joined the staff in 1926, when enrolment was about 300, seems to have justified itself on the record. During the last decade, while he was principal, Oak Bay has led all British Columbia high schools in winning the Governor-General's Medal for top students—three firsts and one second.

As the community prepares to commend Mr. Gibbard for a job well done, it will couple with its tributes an expression of confidence in Mr. Wallace for the part he has played and the new tasks he assumes.

Mr. Diefenbaker's Shoestring Catch

THE OTHER DAY AT GUELPH Mr. Diefenbaker spoke in a manner to invite the belief he is Canada's effective champion of peace, and pointed up his remarks with the statement, "I have seen Khrushchev using his shoe."

The instance in which the Russian leader pounded his shoe on his desk at the United Nations occurred on Wednesday, October 12, 1960. At that time, according to the Canadian Press, Mr. Diefenbaker was attending opening ceremonies for a new bridge in his hometown of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan.

If Mr. Diefenbaker saw Mr. Khrushchev pounding the desk with his shoe, Mr. Diefenbaker presumably saw it on television, as did hundreds of thousands of Canadians.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Diefenbaker is no less effective a champion of peace than the other hundreds of thousands of Canadians who televiewed the shoe-on-desk thumping.

Who Wants Speeches?

BRITISH PARLIAMENTARY byelection candidate Arthur Fox may be no economist, but he had a way of keeping his audience's eyes on figures.

Arthur, a Manchester night club owner, had two of his club's attractive strip-teasers on the platform with him—though the ladies remained fully clothed. But both were aliens and their work permits made no mention of electioneering. So the Variety Artists' Union complained and the law bade Arthur disperse with the ladies in his political appeal.

Without his stage props, Mr. Fox's chances are dim. So they should be. The progress of a politician is confusing enough without raising doubts about who should kiss which babes.

"Forget it . . . there'll be NO strike to support the demands of the College students . . ."

FROM THE DEEP WELL

He Makes Mere Living an Adventure

By B. A. TOBIN

THE little fellow has done it again. Greg Clark has brought out another book—a third collection of the fascinating human interest stories which appear regularly on the inside back page of Weekend Magazine.

The bound volume presentation is not a familiar one for Greg—he's a newspaperman, always has been, always will be. It's hard to imagine him as anything else and he certainly aspires to no other title. People give him titles, of course: best in the business, tops in his trade, greatest practitioner of his particular art, expert on living—all these are bestowed on him, and by people who know.

But Greg likes "newspaperman." And to his weekly pieces—the recent best of which now are reprinted in "Hi There" (Ryerson Press, 228 pages) to be published March 16—he brings an editor's brevity, a reporter's selectivity, and his own particular genius for warm, human relationships.

It's been going on for a long time of course. Anybody who lived in Toronto back in the 'thirties will remember the Star's weekly page of Greg and Jim, in which Gregory Clark described his adventures and Jimmy Frise cartooned them.

The readership has changed a lot since those days, no doubt, but Greg hasn't. His interest in people, his deep instinct for friendship, his real desire to help his fellowmen (which can get him into some awful predicaments as any Weekend reader knows)—these are genuine characteristics of the man, they are not assumed merely for literary purposes.

Anyone who has ever met Greg will readily acknowledge this. His interest in birds, animals, fish, and humans is the essence of the man, not a garment. And the personal beneficiaries of that decency and generosity must number in the thousands.

My own memory of Greg Clark goes back to the war years when for a couple of weeks we tramped London's sand-bagged streets and blackout, covering the visit of Prime Minister Mackenzie King to the embattled capital. And large among those memories is the day-by-day picture of a veteran of the trade who, of his own voluntary generosity, took time out to help a greenhorn on his first big assignment.

Emergency

There was the night when the correspondents had been told there would be no news developments—we could have the evening off; I spent the time with Victoria friends and came back to the hotel after midnight to find a note awaiting. "Gall me, Greg."

I phoned his room, to learn that a change of plan had brought release of Mr. King's important speech for the Mansion House on the morrow. I roused a sleepy secretary to issue my advance copy, and was able to spend the next couple of hours getting away a night cable for later release, thus avoiding unmentionable horrors and troubles. Greg had been neither too big nor too busy to remember his tyro colleague.

There were other little props from the veteran—a tip here, a quiet word of advice there, and introductions to the seemingly unfathomable pool of friends Greg found in militarized London.

But even more memorable in some ways were a few strolls we had around the town. Then the full spirit of the man came out.

Observer

He was the first to catch sight of a little flower significantly growing from a bomb ruin, the first to spot an interesting little vignette of shopper-and-customer or shy-girl-and-shyer-boy. He was the one who led me unerringly to a famous purveyor of walking sticks to admire the display; or who explained, as we viewed the great boiled salmon lying on a restaurant counter, how gourmet would delay their order until the noon slicing had advanced to the preferred region of the succulent shoulder.

Enjoying his companionship, it was not difficult to believe that his endless fund of anecdotes is based on true experiences. And even though it might be a tall order to say that ALL are true, from my memory of the man I challenge anyone to say that any particular one could NOT be true.

For though they deal with individuals, Greg's stories come essentially from the deep wellspring of humanity whose waters flow through all his writings and his life. And that's about as genuine as you can get.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Less Exposed

My wife and I were spending the weekend in Victoria visiting friends and relatives and enjoying the balmy weather and the blossoms until I read the Times and Weekend Magazine.

It featured an article entitled "Our Navy in the Nuclear Age," stating, amid covert allusions to almost everything short of out-and-out espionage, that (on page 13) "Soviet offensive potential is known to be poised ready for instant action should it have to retaliate against a U.S. strike."

The United States, than whom no other country—save maybe Sparta—has laid greater stress on the aggressive qualities in character, aver that their immense military potential is for defence and to frustrate aggression. Defence? Aggression? Frustration?

I couldn't get back to Vancouver quick enough. It is less exposed.

Probe

(Ottawa Citizen)

CHARGES of graft levelled in the British Columbia Legislature are to be examined by the House public accounts committee, which is the worst possible way of dealing with accusations bearing on the integrity of a minister of the Crown. This is a matter that ought properly to be referred to a judicial commission.

In this case the Social Credit government is proceeding in a manner that recalls its handling of charges brought a few years ago against another cabinet member. That was the former Minister of Lands and Forests, Mr. Robert Sommers, who was accused of accepting bribes for the issuance of forest licences. The government tried desperately to avoid an independent investigation: this was forced on it in the end, and eventually Mr. Sommers was convicted in the courts and sentenced to a penitentiary term.

The present matter involves the Minister of Highways, Mr. P. A. Gagliardi. A New Democratic Party member produced an affidavit alleging graft in connection with a Trans-Canada Highway contract in the Rogers Pass area. Mr. Gagliardi denied the allegations and proposed that they be investigated by a House committee; supported by his own leader, Premier Bennett, and the government majority in the Legislature, he has been able to get his way.

An inquiry conducted under these circumstances is unlikely to be impartial. Yet unless all the facts are brought out in such a way as to satisfy the public that nothing relevant is being concealed, doubts will persist. Mr. Gagliardi is not going the right way about clearing his name.

Dougan Lake Story

I was deeply impressed by Mr. Arthur Mayse's intriguing account of his trout fishing experience in Dougan Lake, in a recent issue of the Times.

This little lake lying in the northern limits of Shawnigan district has an interesting history. Trout are not indigenous but were introduced just 60 years ago. Fish could not surmount the vertical, very high falls where the stream, draining the lake, meets the Koksilah River.

The original name of the lake, found on old maps, is Patrolas, an Indian name; and the outflowing creek bears the same name.

In 1868, Wellwyn Rogers, an English immigrant preoccupied a quarter section embracing the hill on the east, a part of the valley, and about a third of the lake. The Rogers house of hewn logs stood on the hill where now yawns a great gravel pit; and here the Rogers family lived till a little past the turn of the century, and so it was fitting that the lake should bear their name, which it held on maps and generally for 70 years.

Some 17 years ago the name was again changed to its present appellation, Dougan, another early family. Quite a number of these Dougans settled in the district in 1868, and later. The only one of this group, however, to leave a permanent impress on the locality was James Dougan, whose descendants reaching from Cowichan to Minnesota and to California, number about a hundred. The old Dougan homestead, the farm conducted these many years by one of the younger sons—stands at the south end of the valley.

In its pristine form Dougan Lake was considerably larger than its present condition would indicate. Its circumscribed area is due to a great ditch dug through the valley in 1895, which lowered the water-level several feet.

But Mr. Mayse—pardon a gentle chiding—you are a journalist, and as such you should be more careful of your spelling. The name of the lake is Dougan (possessive case negative) not Duggan, which is an English name.

However, Dougan is Irish, as Irish as Paddy's pig; and may be found in ancient Erse literature rendered: "O Dugan" (good usage requires no apostrophe). The "O" or Ou holds the same significance as "Mac" and in old books you may find this rhyme: "By 'Mac' or 'O' you'll surely know true Irishmen, they say; but if they lack both 'O' and 'Mac' no Irishmen are they."

And, Mr. Mayse, please don't call our historic little lake a pond! That's too much of a "let-down." Calling our lovely little lake a pond!

N. P. DOUGAN,
Cobble Hill, B.C.

Diefenbaker

VS.

England

By DUART FARQUHARSON

IT WAS the high decibels of Canadian screaming at the meeting of the Commonwealth ministers at Accra in September, 1961, which smashed the dam of British reserve. On September 24 the anti-Canadian storm broke in the British press.

"The Accra communiqué represents," said Nigel Lawson in the Sunday Telegraph, "for the first time, a deliberate attempt by the Commonwealth to sabotage British entry altogether. At present this is the policy only of the Canadians, whose eloquent finance minister, Mr. Fleming, drafted the document. Mr. Fleming, a politico to his finger tips, is well aware of the value of appealing over the heads of the British government to the profound fund of Commonwealth sentiment that exists in this country."

"I do not think we want to be taken in by this. Over the past few years from the rejection of the proposed Anglo-Canadian free trade area to the threatened increase in the tariff on imported British motor cars, the Canadians have had a habit of seeing the Commonwealth relationship as a strictly one-sided affair. For all the talk there is precious little attempt by Canada to understand our own predicament."

Financial editor William Rees-Mogg of the Sunday Times also attacked the Canadians' one-sided outlook. "The idea," he wrote, "that Britain should be given the same freedom of entry to the Canadian market that Canada has to our market is not even a starter."

Similarly the economic editor of the Observer commented on "the utter and complete failure" of Commonwealth ministers "to provide any constructive alternative to Britain's trading dilemmas other than joining the Common Market."

Final Impression

The final—and lasting—British impression of the Accra meeting was given in a Financial Times editorial of September 26.

"The obvious political overtones of Mr. Fleming's harangues appear to have hardened the British attitudes generally towards bargaining with the Commonwealth. Whereas at one stage Commonwealth feelings were regarded very tenderly, they now tend to be viewed as examples of enlightened self-interest."

The storm stilled. Canadian tactics could be forgotten for a while—but only a short while. Mr. George Drew, on November 10, saw to that.

Official Canadian discontent with British briefings on the Common Market negotiations, the high commissioner decided, should dramatically be revealed by his own absence from the next briefing at the Commonwealth Relations Office. His press officer led the story carefully to several British correspondents.

The incident, unimportant in itself, triggered the British press' second major blast at the Diefenbaker government. Relations between Canada and Britain on the Common Market issue, wrote the Observer's economic editor on the front page, were "worse than at any time since preliminary negotiations began."

The Canadians, unlike the representatives of other Commonwealth countries who were co-operating in a practical way, had "adopted an openly obstructive attitude."

Wearing Thin

Said Nicholas Carroll, diplomatic correspondent of the Sunday Times: "British patience with the Diefenbaker-Fleming administration is wearing thin." Without mentioning Mr. Drew, he added, "No one in London wants to quarrel, but nobody seems to be able to keep on terms with the Canadian government."

Had Ottawa learned a lesson? Once again it appeared that it had. Fewer references to the Common Market, the British noted, were appearing in Canadian speeches. Mr. Fleming, at his well-attended London press conference later in November, was as firm as ever, but also polite and courteous.

But Mr. Fleming wanted the full text of that speech made October 10 by Mr. Heath in Paris. If Mr. Macmillan was reluctant to hand it over—and he was—perhaps British public opinion could be led to force him to change his mind.

The popular press dutifully stirred things up. Canada's dissatisfaction was made known to every British reader. Cloak and dagger stories about leaks were a one-week front-page wonder. It seemed that everyone except poor old Commonwealth knew everything that Mr. Heath had said.

Full Contents

Eventually the British government gave in. But it was not only Mr. Fleming who got the text. Reuters, news agency suddenly found itself in possession of its full contents. The world studied the text minutely for new insight into secret British intentions. It found nothing that Mr. Heath had not already publicly said—and wondered out loud: what was all the Canadian shouting about?

At last the Diefenbaker government quietened down. For the apparent change in tactics, however, it received no credit from the British.

The Conservative administration still hoped British negotiations to join the Common Market would fail, every special correspondent reported from Canada. It had lowered the hysteria of its voice only because of the public outcry its policy had raised. It was running scared into an election.

Britons settled back to await the outcome of the June vote. Once that crisis was over, they reasoned, Canada could get down to the business of formulating some realistic policies. Privately, they left no doubt as to which Canadian party now held their sympathies. But they would not speak publicly, not last June. In 1963 it would be different.

A Little Less Mayhem on Ice

THERE can't be many exercises less profitable than arguing the superiority of present-day hockey over old-time hockey, or vice-versa. The protagonist of one is never convinced by the case presented by the other.

The spectator who likes the rugged check of today and the pressure play of modern hockey isn't inclined to yield a point to the person who seeks to establish the greater appeal of the smoothly-skated solo rush and the play-the-puck-not-the-man practice of a much earlier time.

The problem is further complicated by the fact that in the earlier time some players were pretty rugged and could bounce an opponent as competently as the knock'em-down practitioner of a later day, while some of the present dippy-doodlers are as engaging to watch as the outstanding stickhandlers of another era.

It seems to me, though, in the constant evolution of hockey, that we're due for a change that will take a lot of the mayhem out of the game. There are at least three pretty good reasons for my belief.

In the first place, hockey talent, good hockey talent, is not so expendable that any club can afford to lose assets like Lou Fontinato, who crashed into the boards and was carried from the ice, and perhaps from hockey, when the man he intended to check side-stepped and let Lou hit the barrier head-on.

In the second place, the people who watch hockey are becoming educated to the game. Constant exposure to good telecasting has given them an insight into the finer points of play. They no longer—as it was alleged when the sport was introduced to a hockey-illiterate Los Angeles—go out just to see blood spilled and bones broken. They have been elevated to a degree where they want to see something more than the lions eating the Christians.

The spectators still appreciate body contact and ruggedness, but they can pick out examples of finesse which depend on something other than the application of muscle and weight to an opponent. So the player who can't do much more than club down a rival isn't as big box office as he might have been earlier.

Then, and this is point three, since hockey has ceased to be a strictly Canadian monopoly, it is natural to see a following in foreign lands for a type of play other than the rugged aggressiveness of Canadian teams at one period of the sport's history. The Europeans were skaters a long time before they were hockey players—and pretty good skaters at that.

Admittedly, the most effective European teams have benefited from studying Canadian play, and often from the assistance of Canadian trained coaches and players. But, according to reports, they depend a lot on skating, on stick-handling, on passing and positional play.

Their followers are accustomed to this type of hockey and the European referees are rough on the bumpers. Canadians, who made the game and wrote the book, find, when they play across the Atlantic, that they have to conform to the remade game tailored by Europeans and to the new chapters written into the book by Scandinavians, Russians, Czechs and the rest.

Canadians don't object to this any more than the orthodox church objected to what Martin Luther did, but they ain't happy.

Still, if hockey's for export—and it apparently is—then the Canadians have to meet the terms of the market and those terms will automatically influence the trade in this country.

It's about 40 years since I saw Frank Fredrickson, Frank Foyston and Jack Walker—weave their ways through the opposition to score on beautiful rink-length rushes that warmed my boyish heart. It's 30 years since I saw King Clancy and Red Horner, I think, form the human nutcracker combination that dropped opponents in Toronto's defence zone in the era when you played the man and looked for the puck afterwards.

Now, it seems, we're due for the cyclical return to more dexterity and less brute force on the ice. The time is here, I'd say, when a hockey player should use his noodle for play-making and not as the warhead on the human projectile he sometimes makes of himself. I think it will be an improvement.

U.S. Popular in West Europe, Russians Making Strong Gains

WASHINGTON (AP)—The popularity of United States foreign policy has hit a record high among west Europeans but the Soviet Union has scored striking gains too, according to a new U.S. Information Agency poll.

A recent rise in pro-Russian sentiment was attributed to "the avoidance of war over Cuba—which many in Europe attribute more to Soviet moderation than to U.S. strength."

The Information Agency survey of opinion in four major European nations, dated last month and still classified as confidential, reported the U.S. still runs well ahead of Russia in popular opinion. It also said: 1. Confidence in U.S. leadership showed record gains in Britain and West Germany, but dropped some in France where President de Gaulle is "so dramatically at odds" with President Kennedy.

2. Frenchmen continue to hold the U.S. in high esteem, although de Gaulle's drive for "independence from America is making some headway and predominant French opinion favors non-alignment with either Washington or Moscow.

BASIS OF CLAIMS

Findings of USIA polls were the basis of claims by Kennedy in his 1960 presidential campaign that U.S. prestige abroad had slumped during the Eisenhower years.

The new survey said USIA researchers would shortly prepare a special memorandum from the European opinion sampling dealing specifically with Cuba.

It concluded:

"The marked gains in pro-U.S. sentiment in the latest surveys in western Europe appear to be paralleled by no less striking gains in pro-Soviet sentiment."

It's Caterpillar Time Again

Last year we found tent caterpillars hatched in February, but in spite of the warmer weather this year none have appeared as yet around our way.

Egg masses aplenty are attached to the branches of fruit and ornamental trees, enough to indicate a substantial increase in the caterpillar population this year.

Unless you are blessed with good eyesight, these egg masses are first noticed as a shiny spot on a branch, and closer inspection reveals a brownish-black metallic looking disc or band composed of small eggs tightly joined.

They are most readily seen in early morning or late afternoon sunshine, the strong light at an angle making them stand out more than the overhead light of mid-day.

The mass will usually come unstuck when pressed with the finger, and it is said the caterpillars cannot survive when the eggs hatch on the soil since there is no tender foliage to appease their ravenous appetite. The young are unable to travel until they have done several days of feeding.

Not believing in taking unnecessary chances, I usually drop the eggs into a paper bag and consign them to the greenhouse heater from which, I believe, there is no escape.

It is worth while spending a few minutes a day checking the trees before the foliage expands, for it is easier to remove the bands than it is to get rid of the tents, or webs.

Once the tents have been constructed the gardener must resort to cutting off portions of branches, or use a torch to destroy the nests. Both these methods cause some disfigurement to the trees.

A stitch in time saves nine, a few egg masses in the fire saves hundreds.

Arab State Leaders Near Union

CAIRO (AP)—Revolutionary leaders of the United Arab Republic, Syria and Iraq said today they are "relatively close" to some sort of union. They scheduled another round of bargaining today.

Delegations from the three Arab countries met for five hours Thursday night at the residence of Egyptian President Nasser. Afterward Cairo broadcast this government statement: "The discussions concerned unity among the three Arab countries. The viewpoints were relatively close, and the meeting will be resumed at noon Friday."

It generally was assumed that the key issue was how close a union should be formed—whether it should be a federation in which each of the three governments would have an equal voice, or an outright merger in which Nasser could be expected to have the dominant role.

The stock market at Toronto was slightly ahead today at the close of moderately heavy trading.

Stocks were mixed in quiet trading at Montreal and New York maintained a slightly higher tone in a dull session.

A loss of 1 1/2 went to Canadian Tire A as well, on moderate volume, and other industrial declines were fractional and scattered. Dipping in a 1/2 to 1/2 range were Algoma Steel, Imperial Oil, Interprovincial Pipe Line, Investors Syndicate A and Page-Hersey.

AT NEW YORK high quality issues among oil, chemicals, and utilities benefited from fairly steady investment demand, but there was no strong group leadership. Big Three motors were firm to slightly higher in late dealing.

Among Canadian issues, Aluminum Ltd. rose 1/4 and Canadian Pacific 1/2, while Dome Mines fell 1/2 and Hudson Bay Mining 1/2.

Prices on the American Exchange were mostly higher in slow trading.

Telephone Head Retires

first affected

VANCOUVER (CP) — Gordon Farrell, chairman of the British Columbia Telephone Company, retired Thursday after 43 years with the company.

Mr. Farrell, 73, was the first to be affected by a company bylaw which he introduced that declared B.C. Telephone cannot have a director over the age of 72.

Mr. Farrell joined the company in 1919 as treasurer and was president from 1928 to 1958. He was named chairman in 1958.

His retirement was announced at the company's annual meeting, which heard president C. H. McLean dismiss rumors that the provincial government plans to take over the telephone company.

CALGARY (CP) — The climate for labor-management harmony is improving in British Columbia, the president of the B.C. council of teamsters said Wednesday night.

Edward M. Lawson of Vancouver told a meeting of the Calgary Building Trades Council that there has been a "considerable improvement in the last year."

He said contracts for one-year terms are "obsolete" and suggested longer contracts should be signed with employers.

Cheap Dollar Swelled Alcan Profit

MONTREAL (CP) — Greater sales volume and the lower exchange value of the Canadian dollar were largely responsible for higher earnings of Aluminum Ltd. in 1962, President Nathaniel V. Davis said in the annual report released Thursday.

He said it is impossible to assess exactly the impact of the lower exchange rate, but the company estimated the benefit to 1962 earnings was about $5,000,000.

As previously reported, the company had net income in 1962 of $37,780,708, or $1.23 a share, up from $30,609,380, or $1 a share, in 1961. Sales were a record 729,672 tons, compared with 671,120 tons in 1962.

Drill Assay Encouraging

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

The exploration and development program at the Buttle Lake property of Western Mines Ltd. has been given a further boost with results of assays from widely separated diamond drill holes.

Gordon Bell, which extended the length of the shear zone mineralization to a total of 1,400 feet from the portal of the 1,200-foot level.

The longest intersection was 25 feet and was a rather low grade but a 23-foot intersection gave .18 ounce gold, 3.48 ounces silver, 2.19 per cent copper, 1.53 per cent lead and 9.86 per cent zinc.

A high-grade eight-foot section in the 23-foot width gave .41 ounce gold, 7.10 ounces silver, 4.13 per cent copper, 3.15 per cent lead and 21.65 per cent zinc.

Western Mines reports difficulty in finding a shaft site—for the best possible reason—that drilling keeps picking up new mineralization of mining grade.

Western also reports that initial surface drilling on the Price zone is encouraging and further work on the zone is planned for later in the season.

Canada's natural gas industry experienced a period of "colossal growth and progress" in 1962 when all previous sales and production records were shattered.

John W. Ostler, president of the Canadian Gas Association, said in Vancouver Thursday following a meeting of the board of directors that "the most spectacular advances for the industry were in the field of exports."

Latest statistics show that foreign sales in 1962 reached

Daily Newspaper Circulation Dips

NEW YORK (CP)—Daily newspaper circulation in Canada totalled 4,111,582 in 1962, the trade publication Editor and Publisher reports. The total is a slight decrease from 1961 when the figure was 4,151,635.

The report, to be included in the 43rd edition of Editor and Publisher Year Book, shows Canada had 108 daily newspapers as of Sept. 30, 1962, with 19 of them morning papers and 89 evening papers. Thirteen published Saturday-Sunday weekend editions with total circulation of 2,200,274, up slightly from 2,172,441 in 1961.

361 billion cubic feet, an all-time high and 107.5 per cent greater than 1961. Domestic sales, also climbed with commercial sales, gaining 13 per cent; industrial sales, up 10.1 per cent; and residential sales higher by 12.6 per cent, for total Canadian sales of 420 billion cubic feet.

Volume of gas produced was up 43.1 per cent and revenues were also at a new high. Of considerable significance, said Mr. Ostler, was the fact that the amount of natural gas used by each customer increased during 1962 by nearly six per cent and another 82,000 customers were added.

"In other words," he said, "more and more people are using more and more natural gas."

A progress report to shareholders of Canada Southern Petroleum Ltd. says the Kootenay test well, 13 miles northeast of the big Beaver River gas strike, being drilled by Pan American Petroleum Corp., is "drilling below 11,500 feet and appears to be in a flank position at depth."

This can be interpreted to mean that the well missed the crest of the discovery well structure and chances of a success are correspondingly slight.

The report says that 87 oil producers have been completed on leases in the Boun-

Canadian, U.S. Power Linkages Forecast

PORTLAND (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall headed back to Washington, D.C., Thursday after visiting a hope here that regional power systems will be come integrated and be connected throughout the United States, and Canada by extra high-voltage transmission lines.

He said also he hoped the Columbia River Basin treaty would be ratified by Canada but added, "that is a decision only our Canadian friends can make." In any event, he said, the United States should go ahead with the Knowles Dam and reservoir in western Montana, a project not yet approved by Congress.

Udall devoted much of his talk at the Columbia Basin inter-agency committee meeting to a discussion of new technologies including transmission of extra high voltage. Columbia is connected to the ada. It is my hope that the power pool with one 250,000 national power survey now being carried out by the federal power commission will encourage We must move ahead with age adoption of the principles of interregional interconnections of hydraulic and electrical integration between large electric systems pioneered by BPA in this country and with Canada and the TVA.

Liberal Derision 'All Part of Plan'

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Thursday night that derision of Canada and ridicule of himself are "part and parcel" of the Liberal party plan.

"This is what you're voting on," he told an audience of 1,400 which crowded a high school auditorium here.

In a 70-minute speech Mr. Diefenbaker presented his Conservative party's five-year "confederation plan" to provide 1,000,000 new jobs, expand the country and work for international peace.

He attacked Liberal defence policy as a "conglomerate mess of indecision, indecisiveness, evasion, and uncertainty" and said no one knew what the Liberal policy would be if that party were elected April 8.

Mr. Diefenbaker hit hardest at what he called "the Liberal program: Deride Canada, downgrade Canada, hold up Canada's prime minister to ridicule as never before."

In an apparent reference to the recent issue of Newsweek magazine with a cover story on himself, he asked: "Did you see the American magazine that came in to destroy me?"

He referred to "Madison Avenue experts" who have produced a coloring book which showed "the equivalent mentality of a four-year-old."

Wage Increases Given

Central-Saanich's 10 municipal employees have been granted wage increases totaling $4,200.

Council granted the increase following negotiations with employees.

The staff, which has no written contract with the municipality, has achieved parity with other municipal employees on Vancouver Island, a spokesman said.

While Miss La Marsh, MP for Niagara Falls in the last Parliament, spoke at a Liberal meeting in the city, the squad's other two members heard Mr. Diefenbaker's speech and later took issue with three of his statements.

The prime minister continued to ignore them, but the province's Conservative Premier Walter Shaw referred to them as "a Punch and Judy show."

The squad's bulletin following Mr. Diefenbaker's speech said the prime minister was wrong in saying Canada had the greatest economic upsurge in its history last year.

DISPUTE FIGURES
Gross national product rose seven per cent in constant dollars last year, it said, compared with production gains of 8.1 per cent in 1952 and 8.6 per cent in 1953 and 1956.

How to save 4/10 of a cent

Buy a gallon of cheap, promotion paint.

You'll save 4/10 of a cent on every square foot of wall you paint. When you finish the room, you will have saved just over a couple of dollars. And in less time than you think, you'll probably have to paint again.

That's why so many people know it's good sense and good economy to pay a few dollars more for Monamel Paint.

Monamel Colormates Guide

See the Monamel Colormates Guide at your Monamel Paint dealer. Take it home with you. It has hundreds of color combinations that will give new life to your rooms, new color to your life!

Monamel is the finest paint you can buy. A gallon costs a few dollars more than cheap paint. It will cover some 600 square feet of wall surface and you'll have paint left over. (Note: a gallon of cheap paint doesn't always cover that large an area.)

A Monamel painted room looks fresh and clean for a long time. Its latex-painted surface can be washed time and again. Cheap paint is apt to come off in the washing. Monamel stays on because it's made to be the finest paint you can buy.

No short cuts in the manufacture. No skimping on the polymerized resins, acrylates, copolymers, pigments, and all the other quality ingredients fine paint must have.

For your Spring painting, pay the few dollars more for a gallon of Monamel. It's worth it. It's good sense. It's good economy. It's the finest quality paint made by General Paint Corporation of Canada, Limited. Monamel - there just isn't any better paint.

COAST-TO-COAST NEWSPAPERS SELL THE MOST

Three Johnson compacts prove a little money can go a long way

Johnson compacts are amazing motors. Their initial cost is low yet their staying power is high. The compacts go a long way between gas stops (on 5 gallons of gas a 51/2 can cruise for 11 hours). They only need servicing once a year and practically never see the inside of a repair shop. They start with the first pull and run religiously season after season. In the long run, a Johnson gives you more dogged dependability for your dollars than any outboard at any price.

The compacts are light and trim. Bulk and weight is pared to a minimum. Underwater exhaust and beveled gears mean the compacts run quiet. They are long on features other small outboards skip on, such as full gearshift, complete corrosion proofing, fuel pump, thermostat-controlled cooling.

Find out how far your money will go. See the Johnson Compact 18, 10 and 51/2 at your Johnson Dealers. With almost a thousand dealers across Canada service is never a problem when you own a Johnson.

4-Lane Highways Asked by Tisdalle

Four-lane highways cross over 12,000 per day at Royal Oak and near the Saanich boundary, "borders" on the need for a four-lane highway.

"We need to give the Greater Victoria motorist the opportunity to get to the ferries (Sidney-Swartz Bay) without endangering his life," the member said.

Addition To Villa Approved

Directors of Victoria Kiwanis Club have given the go-ahead for a $60,000 addition to Kiwanis Villa at Cook and Lang streets.

Plans call for construction of 16 single-dwelling units plus a lounge and more washroom facilities.

The villa now houses 50 senior citizens and the adjacent Kiwanis Village of double and single-dwelling cottages houses 82 persons.

Principal reason for the addition was to take some names off the villa's growing waiting list and "to produce a more economical operation," said Bill Lyle, new president of Kiwanis Village Society.

For the past seven months the villa has been losing an average of $850 per month. The society found labor costs could not be reduced but no staff additions are necessary to take care of the additional 16 units.

$500 LOSS

Projected revenue and expense totals indicate the villa will lose about $500 in the year ending June 30, 1964.

The society will borrow $31,000 to finance the construction with $19,000 being contributed by the B.C. government and $10,000 from Kiwanis Centennial coin project.

Original plans call for a total of 75 units in the villa with a larger kitchen and a recreation and devotional room.

"There's more space for more houses but I can't say when construction will start on them," Mr. Lyle said.

"What we have now still isn't paid for and we are borrowing more money to finance the new addition."

The club hopes to have the addition completed by the first week in December in time for the annual fund-raising Kiwanis blitz.

Will Cougars Be Invited Back Into Pro Hockey?

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Victoria back in professional hockey?

It's only a rumor, of course, but whispers are starting to breathe new life into old hopes.

Financial troubles in Spokane and cautious words from Memorial Arena manager Jack Morgan suggest the possibility that Victoria might be invited back into the Western Hockey League.

If not next season, try the 1964-65 campaign. Victoria has been without pro hockey since the Cougars were transferred to Los Angeles following the 1960-61 season. City fans hoping for a new team received an injection of hope—and a mighty potent one at that—last spring when a group of prominent Victorians and John Bassett of Toronto made an official bid for a WHL franchise.

It was a near miss. WHL directors declined to admit Victoria, mainly because of the league's hopes of eventually attaining major league status. Victoria's 5,033-seat Memorial Arena is not considered large enough to support a "major league" team.

It was learned Thursday that an avenue now exists through which Victoria may re-enter the league, presently composed of Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, Seattle, Spokane, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

WHL directors, it is believed, are now more receptive to the idea of placing of a team in Victoria. The team, possibly relocated from one of the existing franchise-holding cities, would be "subsidized by the league."

Morgan, queried on the matter, admitted he's "hopeful" of "something developing."

"If not next season, then the year after."

Was there any truth to a report that he (Morgan) had scheduled a meeting with WHL officials in Spokane?

Replied Morgan:

"No, not with anybody in particular. It is true, however, that there has been some talk (about Victoria). I heard, unofficially, that Victoria stands a chance of getting back into pro hockey. I intend to follow that up by going south next month to talk to a few people."

Morgan added that he did not know which franchise, if any, would be available.

Spokane looms as the best bet. Financially, this has been another poor season for the Cougars. In addition, Spokane's seating capacity isn't much greater than Victoria's.

Travel to and from Spokane has always been difficult whereas Victoria's location is much better, from an economical standpoint. Victoria, Seattle and Vancouver would again give the league a "tight little corner" that, under proper scheduling, would reduce transportation costs substantially for all teams.

Put it all together and it still doesn't add up to anything solid. But don't give up the dream—yet.

George (the Chief) Armstrong would have become a 20-goal scorer Thursday night if the puck had only gone into the right net.

The Toronto captain, who has 19 goals so far this season, scored one, all right, but it was against his own team as Maple Leafs struggled to a 3-3 tie with Montreal Canadiens.

The single point they earned in Montreal dropped the Leafs back to second place in the National Hockey League behind Chicago Black Hawks.

Hawks and Detroit Red Wings had little trouble pushing around the NHL's surplus teams in other games Thursday. Goaler Glenn Hall chalked up his fifth shutout of the season as Chicago beat Boston Bruins 2-0 and Wings' Norm Ullman scored three goals in leading Detroit to a 9-4 pasting of New York Rangers.

LEAFS HAVE EDGE

Rangers and Bruins, in fifth and sixth place, respectively, are beyond redemption this season—and will sit out the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Leafs clearly outplayed Canadians in most of the bruising, close-checking game, but were stymied by acrobatic goaler Jacques Plante.

They went ahead 2-0 on early first-period goals by defencemen Kent Douglas and Johnny MacMillan, but Henri Richard cut the lead to 2-1 at 18:33 of the period.

Armstrong tied it for Montreal when he tried to clear the puck during a power play scramble. He banged it past his own goaler, Don Simmons, and Montreal's team captain Jean Beliveau was given credit for the goal.

Ralph Backstrom's goal only 13 seconds after the opening of the third period gave Montreal the lead for the first time, but Dave Keon annulled it almost immediately, by breaking away to tie the game.

Aside from Ullman's three, Detroit got two goals from Andre Pronovost, who scored one by the unusual method of shooting from behind the New York net and bouncing the puck off the seat of goaler Gump Worsley's pants.

Trueman Tops Test Record

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (Reuters)—Another fine display of bowling by Freddie Trueman, whose five for 61 made him the world's leading test wicket-taker, put England on top today on the opening day of the third and final cricket test against New Zealand.

But New Zealand made a better start than in either of the first two tests; both of which it lost by an innings, and reached 238 for eight.

Trueman overtook Brian Statham's world test record of 242 wickets when he sent back two of the first three New Zealand batsmen.

Smokies Hope to Show Swedes How It's Won

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Ailing but happy after their 12-2 romp over Finland, Trail Smoke Eaters put their title chances on the line today against defending champion Sweden in a vital game of the world hockey championships that has been sold out for weeks.

The Smoke Eaters trailed the first-place Swedes by a single point going into today's game. Trail had to win their two remaining games to nail down the title. The Canadians play Russia in the final game of the 10-day tournament Sunday.

Coach Bobby Kromm feels that after the way the Smoke Eaters clicked against Finland Thursday, they can't be stopped. "We're really rolling along and I don't think anything can stop us now," he told reporters after the game with Finland. He oozed optimism despite manpower problems. Forward Hugh McIntyre is lost to the team for the remainder of the tournament due to a leg injury; goalie Seth Martin has shoulder and back trouble, and veteran Jack McLeod had a high fever when he played Thursday. He refused a doctor's advice to remain inactive and collected three assists.

Russians Flatten Czech Hopes

Two other games were played in the "A" group today before the Sweden-Canada clash. Russia kept alive its hopes for a first-place finish by routing the U.S. 9-0. Highly-touted Czechoslovakia downed a surprisingly tough Finnish team 5-2.

The Russians upset the Czechs hopes Thursday by scoring a 3-1 victory. The Czechs, who had tied Canada 4-4, thus are considered to be out of the running.

In Thursday's other "A" group game, U.S. won its first game by downing an injury-riddled West German team 8-4. The Germans were without the services of their two regular goalies and had to substitute a forward who had never played before.

McLeod, a right winger who has played in the last three world tournaments, is the leading individual point-getter here with four goals and eight assists for 12 points. The Smoke Eaters rank one-two-three in the individual scoring statistics, and centre Jones has the most goals—seven.

WIDER MARGIN
Jones also has four assists for 11 points and is tied for second place in the scoring race with teammate Addy Tambellini, who has six goals and five assists.

The Canadian margin of victory over the Finns was much wider than the Russians and Swedes. Russia defeated Finland 6-1 while Sweden did not look so hot in beating England 4-0.

Trail had little trouble with Sweden in 1961 when the Smoke Eaters won the world title for the second time. The Canadians pulled off a 6-1 victory but the Swedes had some of their best players, including Nils Nilsson for the entire tournament.

Nilsson broke his jaw in a pre-tournament exhibition with the Smoke Eaters and the Swedes have never forgiven the Canadians for this.

But Canadian hockey officials who saw the game say Nilsson was skating with his head down when he collided with a Canadian player, and no penalty was called.

While it's hard to say just how anti-Canadian Swedes are, the feeling seems to be prevalent that Canadians are considered roughnecks.

But this isn't true in the tournament itself. Canada ranks fourth in penalties with 20. Finland leads with 30. The Swedes have the least infractions, eight.

IN B.C. HOOP MEET

Alberni Holds Island Hopes

VANCOUVER—The hour of decision is drawing closer in the B.C. high school basketball championships and Alberni Chieftains don't want to miss it.

The Chieftains are all that remain today of three Vancouver Island teams in the color-plashed round-robin show at University of B.C.

Nanaimo and Courtenay exited in quarter-final games Thursday. The Chieftains, meanwhile, hit a fantastic 60 per cent of their shots to put away West Vancouver Highlanders 60-53.

This set up a rugged semifinal tonight. Alberni hooks North Surrey, 60-50 upset victors over highly rated Vancouver College, in the opener. Clearbrook MEI, possibly the class of the show, meets dark horse Queen Elizabeth in the other.

FINAL ON SATURDAY

The winners meet for the championship Saturday night. Alberni got 20 points from John Drew and 14 from Rick Burnip to ease past West Vancouver.

Nanaimo Hubsters had the misfortune to tangle with MEI. The Clearbrook kids put them down 78-29 and cleared their bench in the process. Courtenay had Queen Elizabeth down 26-23 at the half. Then the Lizzies switched to a zone, held Courtenay to one point and whipped Esquimalt defeated Burnaby 5-2 in the first game.

Important Games For United, Gorge

Every point is a valuable one for Victoria United these days, and there's no looking back for Gorge Hotel either.

The Pacific Coast Soccer League standings point out the importance of United's situation: Victoria trails league-leading Vancouver Canadians by four points; each team has five games left in the regular schedule.

United plays fourth-place Firefighters in the P.C.S.L.'s featured game at Vancouver's Callister Park on Saturday. Third-place Columbus plays Royal City on Sunday.

That concludes the P.C.S.L. fare.

DUNCAN CHALLENGE

Locally, the big match is Gorge's Province Cup match with Duncan. Winners of Saturday's sudden-death affair at Royal Athletic Park will represent Vancouver Island, on the road leading to the B.C. championship.

Victoria and District League matches make up Sunday's fare on local fields. Heaveys and Canadian Scottish tangle at Heywood Avenue Park, while Brodies play Victoria West at Central Park in first division matches.

The second division continues cup playoffs. These, incidentally, are on a round-robin and not knockout basis.

In the Memorial Cup (championship) series, Oak Bay meets College Vikings at Wm. Eddys and Drakes, originally scheduled to play

Rival Networks Sign Five-Year Grid Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—A five-year agreement for sharing television broadcasting of Canadian professional football has been signed by the publicly-owned CBC and the privately-owned CTV television network.

'PROTECT OUR HERITAGE'

12-Mile Limit Recommended

Concerned over the decline in salmon catches by sports fishermen in the past few years, the Amalgamated Conservation Society is waging a campaign to obtain a more equitable share of coho and spring salmon for sportsmen and to protect the future of B.C. salmon fishing.

Representing 12 Levee Island organizations, members of the society have drawn up a list of proposals they believe would benefit the salmon fishery.

These proposals have been incorporated in a brief, presented to J. Angus MacLean, federal minister of fisheries, and later distributed to almost 300 interested individuals and organizations.

Through the brief, the society hopes to make the fisheries chief and many others better acquainted with the problems of sports fishermen on the B.C. coast.

Because of the widespread interest of island anglers in the ACS campaign, The Daily Times is printing the brief in daily installments.

Here is the sixth and final installment:

TWELVE-MILE LIMIT

The recommendation of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission to open northern B.C. and northern Alaska waters to Japanese fishing fleets poses a serious threat to the future of B.C.'s fishing industry. This recommendation must still be ratified by Ottawa. Under the proposal, Japanese fishermen would be able to fish herring off the west coast of the Queen Charlotte and take halibut from the Eastern Bering Sea. The commission's action was a form of appeasement and allows Japan to get her foot in the door which could lead to future net fishing of our salmon off the West Coast of Vancouver Island by Japanese fishing fleets accompanied by "mother ships" equipped with refrigeration or canning equipment. It is of the utmost importance that our government do everything in its power to stop this future threat and protect our heritage.

A new treaty must be negotiated with Japan and every effort should be made to include Russia in future negotiations.

Canada must renew her efforts to establish a territorial water strip extending six miles seaward, instead of the present three-mile limit, and to this, for fisheries purposes, a further six-mile strip added, thus extending the fishing limits of other nations 12 miles off shore.

Many countries favored this Canadian suggestion at the 1960 Maritime Country meeting. In view of Britain's recent problems with Russian fishing close to her shores, and the growing threat to North America by Japanese and Russian fishing fleets, this proposal should enjoy renewed popularity.

DOG FISH

The subsidy on dogfish should be continued to hold the line on these predators which destroy large amounts of young salmon on their initial migration in salt water.

CREEK ROBBING

Creek robbing is one of the most serious breaches of our fishing regulations and should be treated as such. Any commercial fisherman convicted of creek robbing should have his boat and equipment confiscated and his commercial licence suspended for life.

FRASER RIVER GILLNET FISHERY

In the interests of conservation the Fraser River spring salmon fishery should be closed to gillnetting.

In conclusion we would reiterate that we do not suggest the points covered are a cure-all for the fishing industries but we do feel that they are constructive and deserving of support. Your consideration is urgently solicited.

Yours truly,

W. J. D. HOSKYN,
Secretary-Treasurer

Bolt Seven Under

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Monday—Tommy Bolt, veteran Julius Boros and Dave Marr.

Bolt, who will celebrate his 45th birthday later this month, hit every green. He had five birdies and an eagle. Bolt appears to have licked the variety of ailments that plagued him last year.

George Knudson of Toronto was the best scorer of the Ca-stroke back at 67 were Ray-

CBC, said the agreement which covers the 1963-67 football seasons provides "a long-term solution to the problems of television coverage of Canadian football and will ensure service to viewers in all parts of Canada."

In summary, the agreement calls for sharing of the televising of the Canadian Football League's Eastern and Western conference games with the CBC carrying Saturday games during the regular season and the CTV broadcasting games played on other days of the week.

The Grey Cup, cause of a major television controversy last year, will be carried by both networks as will "crucial final games" in the conference playoffs. A formula has been worked out for sharing coverage of other playoff games.

Details of the agreement, which runs to Jan. 2, 1968.

GREY CUP

CBC and CTV will broadcast the Grey Cup game or games.

CBC and CTV have agreed to broadcast a Canadian professional football game only on a shared basis. When there are two games at different times on the same day, provision is made that one network may broadcast one game, and the other may televise the other contest.

If it is a Saturday game, CBC has first pick. If it's on any other day, CTV has first choice.

If either network cancels a scheduled football broadcast to run another program, the other network may televise the game.

PLAYOFFS

The sharing arrangement for television provides that the holder of the TV rights for the Eastern Conference will broadcast the first game of the Western semi-final and the first game of the Eastern final.

The other party will broadcast the Eastern semi-final and the first game of the Western final.

The holder of Western rights will allocate the broadcast of the second Western semi-final game.

INTERLOCKING GAMES

Games between teams of the same conference normally will be broadcast within the territorial limits of the conference.

However, when the TV rights permit it, games between teams of the same conference and interlocking games may be the subject of full network broadcast by CBC or CTV.

ARCH RIVALS TANGLE FOR ESQUIMALT TITLE

Navy and Esquimalt's Pontiac Chiefs figured to be in the final some time ago, but it's anybody's guess as to which team picks up the Colony Cup.

The best-of-five series for the Esquimalt and District Hockey League championship gets under way tonight at the Sports Centre. Second game will be played Tuesday.

Chiefs won three, lost two and tied one of their six meetings with Navy during regular-season play. That slim difference enabled Chiefs to claim first place by one point.

Opening faceoff tonight is at 8.

CHALLENGE FROM SEATTLE

Scots Start Parade For Minor Champions

The first of Victoria's seven minor soccer champions steps on the playoff trail this weekend.

Canadian Scottish, the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association's representatives from division six, face Bellevue of Seattle Sunday in the first round of provincial play.

Seattle teams this year were admitted into B.C. jurisdiction in an effort to stimulate soccer's rise in Washington.

The Scottish-Bellevue match will be played at Heywood Park at 12:30.

In addition to the Scots, other Victoria teams campaigning for berths in the annual "Tournament of Champions" are: Britannia Legion (II), Esquimalt Legion (II), Saanich Employees (III), Majestic Royals (IV), Sidney Legion (VI) and Boys' Club (VII).

Hard Look at Budget Time In Store for Renewal Plan

Proposals to budget for $100,000 for urban renewal this year and a $50,000 start toward extending the Clover Point sewer outfall were referred Thursday by city council to the estimates committee.

Both sums could be subject to cuts before the budget is set. Aldermen also voted to send a formal application for assistance to the senior governments to find out if they will support the multi-million-dollar Blanshard Street redevelopment scheme.

COST $500,000

Ald. A. W. Toone said the city's share of the cost would run "in the neighborhood of $500,000" so it should budget for $100,000 annually during the five-year program to achieve a "pay-as-you-go" status.

Originally he asked that the council commit itself immediately to $100,000 this year.

But later he agreed to the referral provided his colleagues "don't in the meantime think up ways of circumventing this—it's fall 1,000 feet into the 50-foot depth of the strait.

If adopted, the sum will be added to $50,000 put into an urban renewal fund by last year's council after it cut in half the original request for $100,000.

SEWER FUND

Aldermen also approved in principle a proposal originating from Mayor R. B. Wilson that a fund be established this year to save up enough money to clean up the Clover Point pollution.

City engineer J. C. Garnett said this would cost $140,000.

The money would be required for adding units to the existing primary treatment plant mechanically breaking down the sewage and extending the outfall to a major sewer treatment plant for the entire Greater Victoria area.

Armed Forces Alert

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's military leaders placed the armed forces on full-scale alert Thursday in apparent anxiety about the threat of a Peronist revival.

DOUBLED

A committee recommendation that $25,000 be set aside this year for the project was doubled after Mayor Wilson pointed out it would take six years at that rate to clean up the problem.

Ald. A. I. Curtis suggested the best solution would be creation of a Greater Victoria sewage board.

He said the $140,000 proposal to deal with a specific problem would go a long way towards covering Victoria's contribution to a major sewer treatment plant for the entire Greater Victoria area.

But Ald. Geoffrey Edgell attacked the joint plan proposal because "we would wind up paying for sewers in Saanich when we already have a good system of our own."

RELEASE from parole was announced Wednesday for Nathan Leopold by the Illinois Pardon and Parole Board. Leopold, 58, now working as a hospital orderly in Puerto Rico, was granted parole March 13, 1958, after serving 33 years for the 1924 thrill-slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks.

FOOTNOTE NEEDED BY FOOTMEN

The legislature was asked to sort out the bunsions from the bones on Thursday.

Health Minister Eric Martin introduced a bill which would change chiropodists into podiatrists.

The reason is, he said, that they are being confused with the chiropractors.

A chiropodist is the person to go to for treatment of bunions, corns and ingrown toenails.

A chiropodist is a person who manipulates your bones. Now you will go to a podiatrist to have your nails clipped.

Mr. Martin had another piece of physical legislation. This was an amendment to the Cornea Transplant Act. It allows the use of eyes for research or teaching.

This follows a request from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

SOCRED LEADER PLEDGES BOOST

'Family Allowance to 20'

EDMONTON (CP)—Social Credit would pay family allowances of not less than $8 to $10 a month until a student at school reaches the age of 20, Robert Thompson, national Social Credit party leader, told a public meeting Thursday night.

The allowance now is $6 to $8 and cut off at 16. Mr. Thompson, addressing his second rally of the day, promised increased old-age pensions and family allowances and a lowered minimum age for pension qualification.

Fishermen Fired On

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—Syrian border guards opened fire Thursday on Israeli fishermen on the Sea of Galilee but no one was injured. Israeli army sources said the firing stopped when an Israeli armored landing craft arrived.

Old-age pensions and family allowances are "legitimate dividends which should not be paid out of tax dollars." Social Credit would pay them out of "social capital."

After a night at his Red Deer home, Mr. Thompson was to visit his committee rooms this morning and then fly to the Okanagan area of British Columbia for speeches today at Kelowna and Vernon.

Thursday afternoon he spoke to a meeting of 400 at Wainwright, 125 miles southeast of Edmonton, and then drove 150 miles to the Stettler evening meeting attended by 350.

At Stettler Mr. Thompson said old-age pensions and family allowances should be adjusted to the cost of living.

Social Credit policy called for turning the nuclear question over to an all-party parliamentary committee for decision.

At Wainwright Mr. Thompson said a Liberal party promise of $2 a bushel for wheat "is nothing more than an election gimmick to get your vote."

Under Social Credit there would be one price for selling wheat abroad and another price for domestic sales.

Social Credit did not oppose Canadian wheat sales to Communist countries but the party believed the Communist markets are not secure.

Canadians Killed

The couple was identified as Ann and Cyril Dumond Clifford, both aged 28. Mrs. Clifford was born at Collingwood, Ontario, and her husband at Sault Ste. Marie.

Ultra-Modern Paint Centre to Be Opened Today

Ceremonies today will mark the opening of the ultramodern Vancouver Island headquarters of the General Paint Corporation of Canada.

Hon. Robert Bonner, B.C. minister of industrial development, trade and commerce, will open the company's new headquarters, at 830 Pandora near the B.C. Hydro building, in a ceremony at 4:30 p.m.

Officials of the company, with head office in Vancouver, say they picked the Pandora location for their spanking new building because, with such things as civic square development and the hydro building, the area should become a Victoria downtown showplace. The public is invited to view the building at "open house" all day Saturday. Women of the Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League will dispense free coffee and look after the kiddies of visitors.

The new building contains a completely glass-fronted showroom, huge storage capacity with a paint-mixing machine for large special orders, and offices.

One of the main purposes of the building will be to serve as headquarters for a staff of decorating experts to give advice on industrial, commercial and residential decoration.

The building's ultramodern showroom will double as a retail store where customers can pick up anything connected with wall covering—"anything from a can of paint to a $16 roll of wallpaper to an aluminum ladder," as one company executive put it.

The new headquarters' large storage capacity will serve the 15 Victoria and area retailers who distribute General Paint products.

ISLAND CENTRE
The building also will serve as administrative nerve centre for the company's whole Vancouver Island operation.

The streamlined new building was designed by the Victoria architectural firm R. W. Siddall and Associates.

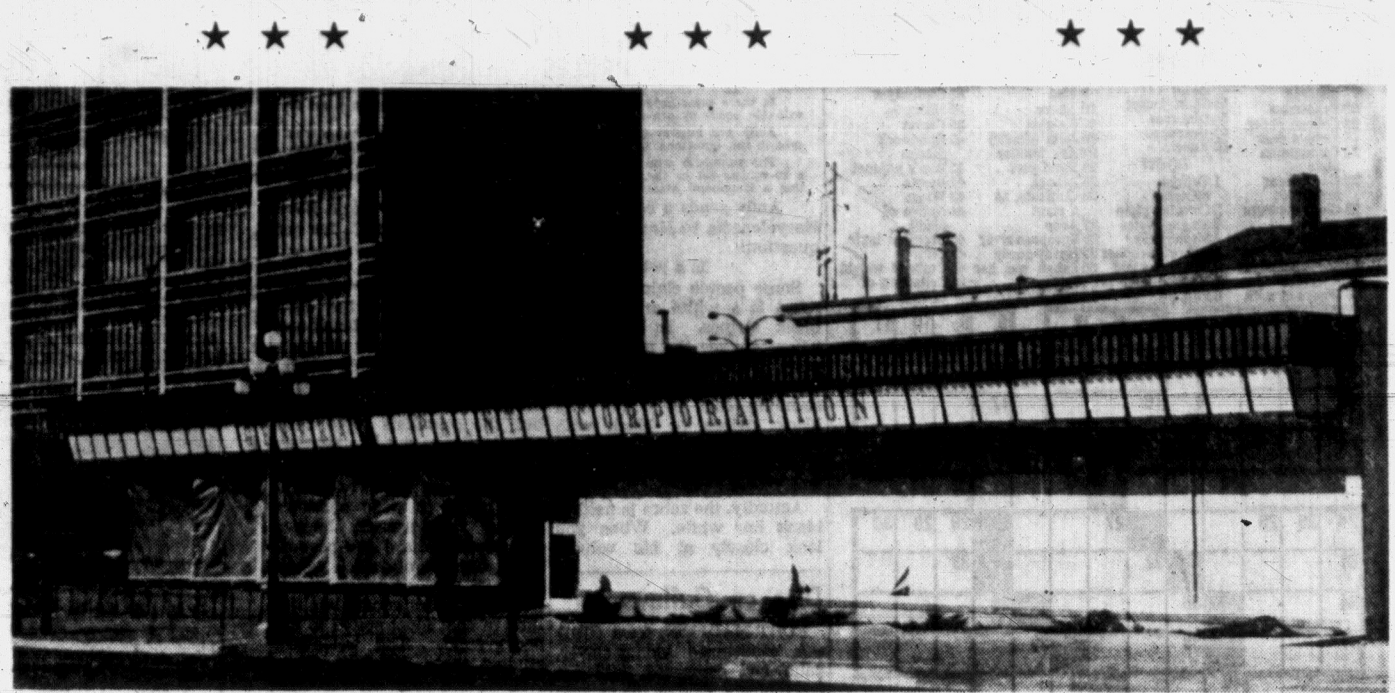

A distinctive feature of the design is that show windows extend in a series of wedges the length of the showroom section of the building.

WEDGE WALL
The inside rear wall of the showroom, clearly visible through the show windows, is built in a complementary series of wedges of wood sections treated with various General Paint products.

General Paint, as well as manufacturing and distributing its own products, is distributor for firms manufacturing all sorts of wall covering materials, including wallpapers from many countries of the world.

REPUTATION HIGH
The reputation of the B.C. firm is so high that many firms consult General Paint for their decorating services.

On hand for today's opening ceremonies will be H. J. McKay, company vice-president, P. T. Dahle, general sales manager, and Ted Cebula, manager of the General Paint Victoria operation.

Russian Seaman Asks Asylum in Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — A 27-year-old Russian seaman has, deserted from one of the Soviet fishing trawlers operating in the Atlantic Ocean off Canada's East Coast, immigration officials said here today.

The immigration department said seamen Peter Ilkiw has asked to be admitted to Canada and that his application will be studied by an immigration board of inquiry in Halifax.

Ilkiw was a member of the crew of the Russian trawler Severodvinsk, one of the Soviet fishing vessels making up the trawler fleet from Murmansk of the Soviet Union.

He deserted from the trawler while she was in port at Sydney, N.S., March 13. Ilkiw was on shore leave at the time he decided to seek political asylum in Canada.

Hazen Argue Proposes 'Vet' College

MINTON, Sask. (CP) — Hazen Argue, Liberal agriculture critic in the last Parliament, said Thursday night a Liberal government would support establishment of a veterinary college in Western Canada.

Mr. Argue, seeking re-election as MP for Assiniboia, told a political meeting that expansion of beef production is hampered by lack of qualified veterinarians. Facilities at the Ontario Agriculture College at Guelph were inadequate and hundreds of prospective veterinary students were turned away each year.

He said a Liberal government, upon taking office, would immediately seek a meeting with agriculture ministers of the four Western provinces to arrive at a joint program leading to rapid establishment of a Western veterinary college.

Notes of Mr. Argue's address were made available to the press in advance of delivery.

Dry Summer Threatened

VANCOUVER (CP) — With a thin winter snowpack, British Columbia faces a serious drought possibility this summer, the experts say.

Interior fruit growers will be hard hit, and lack of runoff water also means early forest fires and a low salmon hatch.

H. I. Hunter, B.C.'s water supply forecaster, said Thursday most regions have well below average snow.

Four Die In Fire

OROMOCTO, N.B. (CP) — Donald Robert Burns, 27, an army private from Saint John, N.B., and his three children died in a fire that swept their apartment here today. His wife, Alice, escaped.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Mary Reid, age 8, of Fort Motte, S.C., for her question:

Is a zebra black with white stripes?

Some people claim that the zebra is a white animal with black stripes. In any case, when you see the pretty little pony in a zoo, it seems impossible to tell whether his outstanding coat is white with black stripes or black with white stripes. He seems to have an equal amount of black and white.

Actually, the zebra is neither black nor white. When you look closely at his velvety coat, you see that the dark stripes are brownish-black and the light stripes are yellowish-buff. You could never tell by looking at him whether his basic color is light or dark—but the scientists have been able to figure out the answer.

The home of the zebra is Africa where the vivid sunshine falls in deep shadows among the grasses, bushes and trees. There are several zebra cousins, and each wears his own type of striped coat. And each zebra cousin has the kind of coat most suited to his background. The scientists studied these different zebra stripes, and they also studied the stripes of a more ancient type of zebra.

A zebra's coat is outstanding in a drab zoo. But it blends into a landscape which is speckled with patches of bright sunshine and dark shadows. This is important, for the zebra shares his home with the lion, and the lion loves zebra meat. When the zebra's stripes blend in with his background, the lion cannot see him. After many generations, the only zebras left in a region are those that blend in with the scenery.

The zebra of the brushland of Kenya has a finely-striped coat which blends with the tall grasses. The zebra of South Africa has wider stripes to hide him among the bushes and shrubs. The zebra of the thick, shadowy forests has still wider stripes.

Wild Horse

In bygone days, the quagga zebra lived in Africa and experts think that he was like the ancient ancestors of all the zebras. He was buff colored with just a few dark stripes on his head and neck. The striped zebra, we are told, most likely descended from ancestors that were buff colored. So zebras are light colored animals with dark stripes. The stripes appeared later to help them blend in with their backgrounds.

The zebra's is a wild horse. The zebra family got its start in North America. In the dim past, there was a land bridge between Alaska and Siberia, and animals crossed back and forth between America and Asia. Some of the little wild horses got as far as Africa. They were the light colored ancestors of the zebras. Their children did not begin to wear their dark zebra stripes for many generations.

ADJUDICATOR MUST CHOOSE BEST THREE PLAYS

'How Am I Going to Do It?'

By AUDREY JOHNSON
With one more program of three plays to be seen in the Victoria Schools' Drama Festival, Vancouver adjudicator
Mrs. Verlie Cooter is already appalled at the prospect of having to choose three of the best for Saturday night's honor performance."How am I going to do it?"
she asked Thursday night at Lansdowne Junior High School.In Mrs. Cooter's opinion every season to date has had some excellent potential.The program at Lansdowne offered a most striking variety, comprising fantasy, dramatic realism in the first act of a full-length play, and a costume
comedy."THE WONDER HAT"
by Kenneth Goodman and Ben Hecht Presented by Lansdowne Junior High School

Punchinello... Gary Chaffin

Director, Mr. D. A. Berringer
Stage Manager, Mr. D. Parker.In this production of a charming play, the set pieces were very fine — "the fountain"Ban on Sirens
'Hopeless,' Says Fire ChiefSaanich and Langford fire chiefs Thursday protested the government plan to ban sirens on ambulances.But J. D. Carlow, president of Victoria Ambulance Service Limited, said he agreed with the measure, and in fact, had disconnected the sirens on his ambulances some time ago."It will be a hopeless situation if ambulances can't see their sirens," said Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Law."Just because we use the siren doesn't mean we are going 80 miles an hour. Someone certainly would lose their life if we can't use the siren going to an accident."Langford Fire Chief David Smith said "a siren is a definite help" in clearing a path for ambulances and he said the prohibition was ridiculous.A delightful play, nicely leavened with humor, was Mrs.
Cooter's opinion of this piece about a castle haunted by a group of medieval ghosts."The speech was amazingly clear and not too appallingly Canadian," she commented.
"I'm a Canadian myself," Mrs. Cooter added, "but I do think we speak very badly."Commenting on the lighting, the adjudicator remarked that the change from interesting shadows to full light was regrettable."We needed the effect of eeriness," she pointed out.
Suzanne Derriks was given warm praise for possessing "a lovely, lovely maturity and a very good voice."Plays tonight will be performed at S. J. Willis Junior High School."The Wise Fools of Gotham" will be presented by S. J. Wil-really shimmered," Mrs. Cooter exclaimed.
Audibility had been not too good at first but it improved as the play went along. The adjudicator felt the cast needed to use the stage more by means of planned movement.The cast had played well together and she especially com-
shown by Gordon Price."HIGH GROUND"

Stage Manager, Penelope SeymourPresenting one act of a play adds to the difficulties of director and cast, Mrs. Cooter felt. However, the all-girl cast had made a fine attempt at performing this tense, dramatic enunciation of character and situation.Here and there they had fallen into the trap of almost repeating lines but diction had been quite fair, she noted.She warned that in a play of this kind it is necessary to work for realism in every detail, and as an example pointed out that coats on people coming in out of the storm should have been old ones that could have a wet, bedraggled

(AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, continuing their tour of outback Australia watched the northern territory's unique "school of the air" in action today.
The couple listened while the teacher, Mrs. Nance Barrett, gave a lesson by radio to 30 pupils scattered over more than 100,000 square miles.
Then the Queen spoke over the radio network to cattlemen and miners in the far outback.
Her voice reached as far as remote Hidden Valley Station, 500 miles from Alice Springs.
The Queen told the outback radio audience statistics could not reflect the true value of the

PRE-QUALIFICATION SYSTEM ASKED

'Weed Out' Risky Contractors

By AB KENT

The current uproar over alleged highway graft could have been prevented by a system of pre-qualifying road contractors, Liberal leader Ray Perrault said Thursday.

Mr. Perrault told the legislature in a debate on Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi's salary vote that a system such as used in Ontario, Manitoba and many American states would have prevented the costly hearing involving L and M Logging Co.

If B.C. had had preventative measures in 1957, "we wouldn't be wasting taxpayers' money on these hearings at the court house because L and M would never have qualified for a contract."

Government members called, "What waste?"

"Court costs..." the member said.

"And the foolish ways some of the members are acting," Mr. Gagliardi put in.

"I am proposing for the umpteenth time in this House that contractors getting jobs in this province have the financial capability to do the work," Mr. Perrault said.

UNIMPRESSED

He said he was not impressed with assurances that the contractors may lose money, but the people of the province are protected.

"We could have avoided so much of this trouble... wasting the time of the House," he said.

Pre-qualification would weed out "underfinanced contractors and contractors who are over-ambitious," he said.

"We need a pre-qualification board as soon as it can be established," including representatives of business and banking who would examine audited statements.

ABILITY, CASH

The board would establish proven ability of contractors as well as their cash resources.

"I'm not trying to put the small men out of business," Mr. Perrault said. Small contractors could get together to bid on large jobs.

The system would reduce credit risks of government suppliers, ensure competent contractors and reduce chances of unorthodox financing, the North Vancouver member said.

He was stopped by deputy speaker Alex Matthew (S.C. Vancouver Centre) as he started to say, "In the first instance when L and M bid on Project 819..."

(This pertains directly to the legislative committee hearing investigating graft charges.)

Mr. Matthew referred to a ruling of Speaker Hugh Shantz that nothing with relevance to the committee hearing could be discussed in the House.

Boy 'Fine' After Shot

NEW YORK (AP)—A four-year-old Canadian boy, bitten or scratched by a dog suspected of being rabid received his first injection Thursday of anti-rabies serum flown to the liner Queen Elizabeth at sea. His mother said he was "fit as a fiddle."

Mr. Perrault said he would make no specific references, but he intends to discuss his proposals before the committee in "an attempt to cure a situation that looks bad to me."

Moments later, Randolph Harding (NDP-Kaslo-Slocan), brought up Continental Contractors, a firm also involved in the hearing—but he was quick to say his references had nothing to do with the investigation.

He charged the government with failing to protect in terms of takeover—in this case from Continental to Mannix on controversial Project 1023—the small contractors who were involved on the job.

He said they had difficulty getting their money after the takeover was effected.

"GO GOOD"

If Mannix does not pay up, the government should "go good for them," he said.

Mr. Gagliardi replied it is "all very well for the member to stand on the floor of the House and make an impassioned plea for the small contractor."

"I'd be happy to pay, but the next year I'd get a half-dozen affidavits from the NDP saying I'd done something wrong."

The minister said there is no legislation covering the situation, and it is not the job of the government to collect or demand pay.

"COMPLETE CHANGE"

Opposition leader Robert Strachan said the reason is clear, that in the wording of advertisements calling for highway tenders there has been a "complete change," altering the percentage value of performance bonds.

Formerly a bidder was required to put up five per cent of tender price in a bid bond or certified cheque, which would be substituted by a performance bond equal to 100 per cent of the tender price, with the five per cent bond returned to him.

Now, Mr. Strachan said, a bidder must put up only the five per cent bond to be forfeited on non-completion of the job.

The 100 per cent bond requirement had been to back one of the contract provisions that a contractor must pay all the people who worked for him, Mr. Strachan said.

SHELFORD SCOLDS LAWMAKERS

Cyril ticked off his fellow politicians Thursday.

Their manners had been so bad, they didn't deserve to be members of the legislature, he said.

The non-conforming Social Creditor Cyril Shelford from Omineca rose just after a fierce-tempered row between government and opposition colleagues about Highways Minister Phil Gagliardi.

Premier Bennett was one of the participants.

"It is very fortunate that all the people of the province can't see us in action," said Mr. Shelford.

"I'm very much afraid if they could there'd be 52 new members."

"I don't think any of us have anything to be proud of on manners."

Fists Fly In Greek Parliament

ATHENS (AP)—Greek members of Parliament swapped blows for 15 minutes Wednesday night during a session. Three deputies and an usher were injured.

The house was debating a bill submitted by the Democratic Left Union, a pro-Communist party seeking to amend the country's internal security law.

A deputy from Premier Constantine Caramanlis' National Radical Union said during the debate that Greece would "bury leftists and wipe out red fascism."

A pro-Communist deputy turned on the Caramanlis man, calling him an "SS (Gestapo) officer." Fists flew.

Deputies from both sides rushed into the fray.

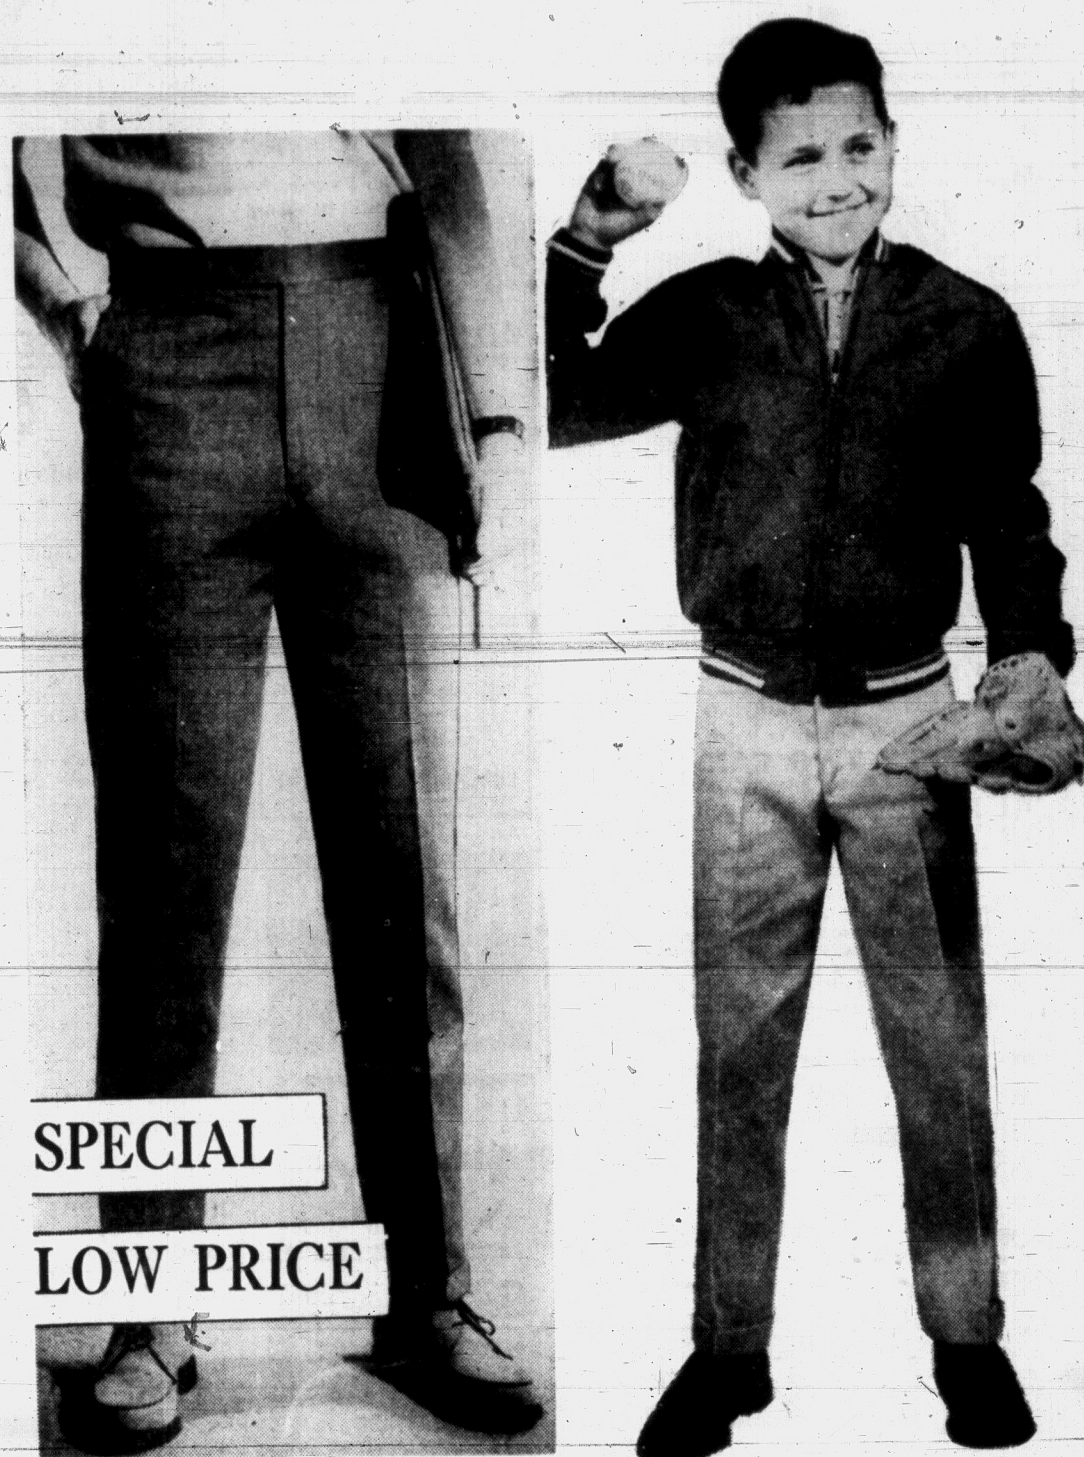

A Canadian Red Cross team of specialists in physical medicine and physiotherapy spent 18 months in Morocco helping to rehabilitate over 10,000 paralysis victims. This is the longest emergency operation ever undertaken by the Red Cross.

YOUTH GETS ONE YEAR FOR RAID ON CASH BOX

A 20-year-old Toronto youth was sentenced in city police court today to one year indefinite and a further four months indeterminate in the Young Offenders' Unit at Oakalla Prison for a daylight robbery of a downtown service station last Friday.

John M. Hennessy earlier pleaded guilty to the charge. It was testified he had stolen $70 from the till at Speedway City Service Station, 800 Yates, while an attendant's back was turned.

He was apprehended in a Pandora Avenue gunshop after a chase by detectives. Only $18.23 was found on the accused, who claimed he had thrown some of the money away while being pursued.

I see there's a new paint store opening up in town. Should do well, too, what with the present market for whitewash.

Which reminds me of the paint job the federal ships are wearing now they have become members of the instant coastguard.

I have been trying to get used to their crimson hulls, white deckhouses, and kind-of-sort-of maple leaf design on the funnels.

But the more I see of them, the more I think the man who dreamed up the color scheme should have his head red.

It is always flattering to be called upon for advice, but in case you are intending to call upon me for advice, don't.

I might give it to you.

The reason I advise you not to ask me for advice can be demonstrated by telling you what happened one night this week.

A friend of mine from out of town who was here on business called me about 9 p.m., to discuss a problem and ask for my advice.

I had difficulty in understanding the problem, and said so.

My friend apologized for not being more articulate, and explained that he was very, very tired.

I asked him what he planned to do, and he said he was planning on getting the next ferry home.

"My advice to you," I said, "is stay where you are tonight, and go to sleep right now. Phone me again in the morning and we'll discuss the problem."

So my friend said goodnight, and sure-enough, he phoned me in the morning.

To report that he had, indeed, taken my advice to go right to sleep.

In the booth from which he was phoning me at the Union Club, where he snoozed soundly for five hours.

Despite the fact I advise you not to ask me for advice, I have one piece of advice left over from my advising days. This is my advice on the teen-age problem, for which nobody has asked me:

Stop referring to young gentlemen and young ladies as teen-agers, thus establishing the fact there is no such thing as a teen-ager.

When there is no such thing as a teen-ager, there will be no teen-age problem, leaving us with only the adult problem, and I definitely refuse to give advice on THAT.

Ask The Times

Q. Could you please tell me if the Edmonton Flyers Hockey Club of the Western Hockey League is a professional team, and if the players are paid for their time on the ice?—N.R.

A. The Flyers are a pro hockey club but the players are not paid for the number of minutes or number of hours they are on the ice per season. Instead, a player and the owner of the club come to terms at the beginning of the season and a contract is signed stating the amount of money the team will pay for his services during the season. In many cases, owners offer bonuses for players who score more goals than is expected of them.

Q. Did the Soviet Army chorus and band ever play in the U.S.A.?—P.H.

A. No.

The city-owned Duncan Building—key piece in proposed rehabilitation of Bastion Square—came alive in the imagination briefly Thursday as a thriving arts centre full of music, drama, dancing and painting students.

Or that's how it seemed during an informal tour of the dusty warehouse by civic officials, and several "longhairs" who think it would make an ideal home of the arts and a tourist attraction.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, urban renewal chairman Ald. A. W. Toone, Ald. Cecil Parrott and city planner Rod Clark accompanied Jack Barracough, Hans Gruber, Allen Edwards and Alan Purdy—representatives of the music, art and acting segments of the community—on the tour.

Purpose was to see how the proposed centre for non-profit schools of music, dancing and drama could fit into the building.

The group discussed possible location of crafts shops and various teaching areas within the three-storey block and its two-storey annex.

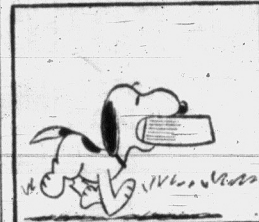

Mr. Gruber, conductor of the symphony orchestra, said it could use rehearsal and office space in the building to advantage and with establishment of a music school there the symphony would be able to obtain several "top-flight"

THE ELECTION TRAIL

Candidates Float On Sea of Coffee

By PETE LOUDON

If some of the candidates locally haven't been holding too many public meetings—there's an explanation.

The coffee party, not new but now coming into its own, is the spearhead of political warfare.

Six housewives huddled over coffee cups are more willing to follow a conversation and ask worthwhile questions than are 600 in a hall full of hard board seats.

And a skilful politician, with an iron constitution can take in several coffee meetings in one day.

The name Michael Griffin appeared among others on the nomination papers of Victoria Liberal candidate David Groos when they were filed Thursday.

This was notable because Mr. Griffin, a former city alderman, nominated Foster Isherwood (who is now an independent candidate) in the Liberal nomination meeting recently.

"I am squarely behind David Groos," he said today.

The Esquimalt-Saanich NDP claims the oldest voter. Any challenges?

William Rose, 723 University Street, to his 100th year signed nomination papers for candidate John Windsor and promised he would walk to the polls to vote, April 8.

Victoria independent candidate Foster Isherwood holds his first rally of the current campaign tonight at 8 at his Oak Bay Junction campaign office, 1532 Pandora.

A group known anonymously as "Conservatives of Groos" still is circulating.

People we have known as staunch Tories for years, discontented by the candidacy of Eric Charman (they wanted A. De B. McPhillips to run again), are claiming that any Liberal votes which go to independent candidate Foster Isherwood will be more than made up for by Tories who will support the Liberal candidate David Groos.

Sex appeal is competing with logic in Vancouver federal election campaigning.

Jack Davis, Liberal candidate in Coast-Capilano, is escorted on stage by six "Davis Debs," all cuties.

And in Vancouver-Kingsway the liberal Liberals have opened a drive-in campaign office where literature is handed out by short-skirted beauties in long, black hose, high heels and sweaters.

First major event in the current Victoria Liberal campaign—tonight at 8, House defence critic Charles M. Drury speaks with Victoria candidate David Groos and Esquimalt-Saanich Grit contender Robert Ostler.

The meeting at Central Junior High School will be chaired by Oak Bay Liberal MLA Alan Macfarlane.

Also tonight, Esquimalt-Saanich Tory candidate George Chatterton speaks at Cobble Hill Hall at 8.

U.S. Co-operation Held Vital to B.C.

Despite the currents of anti-Americanism brought on by the federal election campaign, "we here in B.C. have no feelings of animosity towards our neighbors to the south," Kenneth Kiernan, minister of mines and petroleum resources, told the Pipeline Contractors' Association of Canada today.

The best policy which could be adopted toward the U.S., he said, was one of thorough co-operation without which B.C., with its relatively small population and large land area, could not hope to develop its great resources.

The minister told the meeting that the impact of pipelines on the economy of the province in the last 10 years had been considerable.

Since oil and gas had started to flow to markets through the pipelines, he estimated, the public treasury of B.C. had been enriched by at least $100 million in direct revenue and new revenue is being produced at the rate of $3 million a month.

In addition, he said, the decade of gas and oil development had resulted in an industry expenditure of at least $650 million.

OLD BUILDING COMES ALIVE DURING TOUR OF PROPOSED ARTS CENTRE

... Strains of Violins, Heady Smell of Oil Paints

By JOHN MIKA

The city-owned Duncan Building—key piece in proposed rehabilitation of Bastion Square—came alive in the imagination briefly Thursday as a thriving arts centre full of music, drama, dancing and painting students.

Mr. Gruber, conductor of the symphony orchestra, said it could use rehearsal and office space in the building to advantage and with establishment of a music school there the symphony would be able to obtain several "top-flight" musicians who would teach Victoria youngsters part time.

Mayor Wilson pointed out that the first order of business for city council would be to decide whether or not it wanted the building used for an arts centre.

At conclusion of the tour, it was decided that Ald. Toone and Mr. Barracough would confer about the procedure to be followed before formal proposals are submitted to city council.

Brakes Screech ... Then a Thud

By DESMOND BILL

Four times Walter Carter has heard a screech of brakes and ran out of Fairfield Pharmacy to find someone dying in or near the crosswalk over Cook at Oxford.

It's got so bad that his inside tightens up every time he hears the noise of brakes.

Thursday night 84-year-old Mrs. Josephine Crean of 1138 Oxford died at St. Joseph's Hospital. She had been knocked down at the intersection March 3.

Now Mr. Carter has placed a petition in his drug store asking for a traffic light at the intersection.

And on Thursday—the first day the petition was displayed—more than 300 persons signed it.

A lot of old people live in the densely populated district. Mr. Carter says some of them are now afraid to cross Cook at that point.

Says he: "They take their life in their hands going over the street."

There is a straight stretch of road on either side of the crosswalk. The white lines are faded and on one half of the street are almost obliterated.

There is no sign to warn motorists they are approaching the crosswalk. The petition asks for a flashing overhead light and for the lines to be repainted.

Among the people who signed the petition is Mrs. E. M. Harmston, 35 Cook.

Her husband was killed at Cook and Oxford more than a year ago.

A group of 20 stores is clustered along Cook at that point and this results in heavy use of the walk, says Mr. Carter. The road is also heavily travelled.

Mr. Carter says that in addition to the four fatalities in the last three years there have been dozens of near-misses.

He hopes the petition will get results.

Then he won't wince the next time he hears brakes being applied. Or hold his breath waiting for the thud that indicates another person has been hit.

Pedestrian Dies After Collision

Widow, 83, Unconscious Since Mishap

An 83-year-old woman, knocked down by a car at Cook and Oxford March 3, died Thursday night in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Josephine Crean had been in a coma since the accident, and died shortly before 11:30 p.m.

The woman was in collision with a car while crossing Cook at Oxford, only a block from where she lived alone at 1138 Oxford.

RETURNING FROM MASS

She was returning from 5:15 mass at St. Andrew's Cathedral when the accident occurred at about 6:25 p.m.

She suffered head injuries and two broken legs.

Police said driver of the car heading north on Cook was Charles Edlund, 904 Gorge Road West.

INQUEST

An inquest will be held at McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel at a date to be announced.

Mrs. Crean, a widow, is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Rhodes of Vancouver and Mrs. Helen Choquette of Nelson, and a brother, Frank Gigot, in Vancouver. She also leaves several nieces and nephews.

She was born at Portage La Prairie, Man., and came to Victoria 19 years ago.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by McCall's.

Pedestrian Signals To Be Changed In Downtown Area

Downtown "Walk-Don't Walk" pedestrian signals will be switched from a vertical arrangement to a horizontal position and placed directly on traffic signal poles.

An experiment with the new method—on the northeast corner of Douglas and Fort—was pronounced a success today by traffic official Jack Reid.

He said it was more easily seen in the new position.

The test was made to determine how 8 new pedestrian signals should be made before they are installed at all Douglas and Government intersections downtown this spring.

A woman pedestrian who was knocked down when in collision with a car at Fort and Blanshard this morning was discharged from St. Joseph's Hospital after treatment for leg and wrist abrasions.

Police said Mrs. Marie Rumowski, 42, was crossing Fort when the accident occurred. They said Linda Krebs, 34 Olympia, was driver of the car.

No Abstract Talk Now At City Hall

A blonde bombshell arrived at City Hall today as another harbinger of spring—the annual Victoria row over abstract art—raised its head.

Local artist Albert G. Sterling donated a six-by-four-foot painting—of a life-size blonde nude—to Mayor R. B. Wilson as his own answer to a controversial abstract given to the mayor's office last year by Herbert Siebner.

"I felt that the painting I am presenting would be no more controversial," Mr. Sterling explained in an accompanying letter.

"However, I also felt that it would have some visual appeal."

"It is not intended as an insult to your tastes but rather as a poke at the tastes of some of the artists who have already donated canvases to City Hall."

Mayor Wilson, puzzled as to where to hang it, felt it might go to the seldom-opened archives storeroom.

Assault Admitted By Saanich Man On Detective

Larry Sawchuk, 1315 Hastings, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to assaulting Saanich detective George Walton in the Sawchuk home March 6.

He was remanded to March 21 for probation report and sentence.

Detective Walton testified he had entered the house at the request of Mrs. Sawchuk, whom the accused was ordering out of the house.

The two men wrestled before the detective escorted the woman and her two-year-old girl from the house.

BESIDE HER PARENTS

Kamloops Burial Fulfills Last Wish of City Poetess

The body of Miss Julie C. Crawford of 1143 Pandora Avenue, Victoria, will be taken to her native Kamloops tonight for burial alongside the graves of her father and mother in Pleasant Street Cemetery.

It was Miss Crawford's last wish that she should be buried with her parents.

Her father, Matthew Fulton Crawford, who died here in 1954, was the last survivor of the historic ceremony which brought British Columbia into Confederation more than 77 years ago.

This was the driving of the last spike of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Craigellachie, west of Revelstoke in Eagle Pass on Nov. 7, 1885.

SHORT ILLNESS

Miss Crawford died in St. Joseph's Hospital Wednesday after a short illness.

Miss Crawford was a school teacher in Kamloops for 41 years until her retirement to Victoria in 1932.

She was famed for her interest in poetry and music. Her published works included a novel and a book of poetry.

Miss Crawford liked to recall her father's memories of the historic spike-driving ceremony at Craigellachie.

His railroad, she said, went back to the construction of the road in the early 1880s, and he was fireman on the first trans-continental train to pull into Port Moody in 1885. Born in Whitby, Ont., Mr. Crawford worked for the CPR for 47 years and, when he died here in 1954 at the age of 92, he was the last survivor of those who witnessed the final spike-driving.

"He said it was a mild November day," Miss Crawford said, "and everyone was very excited. I can picture the scene just as my father recalled it. There were no women present—just a group of CPR officials and railroad workers."

"It must have been a great day in our history."

Shop Offers Economy Meat For Both You and Your Dog

By PENNY SAVER

Have you been wondering why some dogs look better fed than you do? And indeed they should if they have been getting their diet from the shop Penny visited.

Here, dog meat is made up of all the delicious and nutritious bone marrow and bone dust that collects around the meat-sawing machine. When you think that this is all mixed up with liver you know why some dogs look so healthy. Price is two pounds for 35 cents.

There is no need for your dog to be the only well-fed member of your family, either. In this store which wholesales and retails prime beef they feature a special economy case where you can buy a prime rib roast for 59 cents a pound.

T-bone, sirloin and round steaks are 69 cents a pound. End pork chops are 59 cents a pound and hamburger 39 cents.

The reason prices are lower in this economy case is that it is not top-grade beef. Steaks have either been tenderized or you may be advised to tenderize your own. And you must be sure to follow any cooking tips you may be given.

There are many people who prefer this meat to top-grade beef because the animal is older and often the meat more flavorful.

If you insist on top-grade meat there is also plenty of it available at regular prices.

Meat for your home freezer is another specialty of this store. Order the cuts you like and they will be wrapped in plastic-lined paper to prevent freezer burns. The meat then goes into a quick-freeze unit and is ready for delivery.

All pork and all beef sausages are made at the same shop. Pork is 49 cents a pound and beef 43 cents.

And, lastly, parking is no problem. You can park outside the door, run in and get your meat, then hurry on home.

To find out where to shop phone Penny at 382-3131.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Choose Carefully

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Who in the world can a person trust any more? Our preacher sat right in our living room and told all the details of some domestic trouble another couple was having. He knew full well these people were friends of ours. Then I found out that my doctor discussed my case with my aunt without any inquiry on her part—she says. Yesterday a friend of mine told her daughter something I had told her in confidence just to get it off my chest. Heaven help me if I ever need a lawyer. I hear they are the biggest gossips of all. I repeat—who can a person trust?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: MOST clergymen can keep a secret. And so can most doctors. But professional people under obligation to keep confidences occasionally talk too much. If your confidences are always revealed, perhaps you are prone to pick the wrong confidants.

DEAR ABBY: A boy called me at 12:30 at night and woke up my father. My father got real angry and told him if he didn't have any better sense than to call at that hour he should never call me again. The boy said he'd "think" about it. You can imagine how much angrier my father got after that. The next day my father told me about what happened and he said I was not to answer any more telephone calls from boys until next year when I'll be in the Ninth Grade. This is the first time anything like this has ever happened to me. Do you think my father is being fair?

PUNISHED

DEAR PUNISHED: Your

father was understandably irritated by the boy's attitude. But I think it's unfair to punish you because of another's insolence.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Fictitious Names": You'd better think up another name. You aren't getting away with anything.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, BOX 3365, BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF., for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Deep Knee Bends Good Way To Increase Size of Thighs

Q. "Could you possibly print an exercise in your column which will develop my thighs to make them larger?"

A. Here are two exercises which will help you. Of course, if you are underweight a gain in poundage would also be helpful.

1. Sit on the floor with your legs straight. Place a weight at the outside of each foot. This can be a book. Lean back on your hands. Now, separate your legs pushing the books along the floor. Return to starting position and continue.

2. Deep knee bends firm and develop the legs. This simply means bending the knees all the way down. Be sure to keep your back erect while you do the bends. If you cannot keep your balance while keeping your back straight, place one hand on the top of a low-backed chair or on the wall.

The only way exercise can make you taller is to make your spine straighter and therefore longer. Such stretching exercises are supposed to do this. Actually, you can add a couple of inches to your height by improving your posture if it is not good. When you slump, you take inches from your height and from the apparent size of your bustline.

One reason very tall women often have poor posture—they slump in the unconscious wish to look shorter. This is such a mistake because a tall girl or woman who has beautiful carriage is always a knockout!

Q. "Is there an exercise to fill out the face? I have a very thin face, and no makeup seems to cling to my nose."

A. The best way to make the face larger is to gain weight. However, I judge that you do not need to gain all over.

Use one of the liquid powders or cake make-up to create an illusion of a fuller face. A product for covering birthmarks may be helpful.

Facial exercise will help firm and fill out facial contours, but they will not make a very thin face look full.

If you would like to have my directions for facial exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 9 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Q. "Is it true that I should cut my toenails straight across the top? I think they look better rounded like my fingernails."

A. It is best to cut them straight across the top. Otherwise, you may suffer from ingrown toenails.

V.I. ROUNDUP

'Get With It' Gaglardi Told

Comox Sacred Dan Campbell Thursday asked Highway Minister P. A. Gaglardi to disclose a report on a proposed northern Vancouver Island ferry link with the mainland of B.C.

He told the legislature, debating the minister's salary vote, the government should announce whether it will assure a private operator that he may stay in business, or whether the B.C. Toll Authority should take over.

The ferry link, proposed by Coast Ferries Ltd., would run between Comox and Powell River. The owner has declined government assistance.

The government should "either allow him to lose his shirt on it, if he wants to, with some guarantee that he can stay... or, if it is to be a department of highways situation, then let's get with it," Mr. Campbell said.

A departmental survey was made a month ago, the member said, hoping that it would show where the service could fit into the toll authority system.

He said he was concerned by statistics indicating that of the tourists who travel to Vancouver Island on government ferries via Victoria and Nanaimo, only 4 per cent go north of Nanaimo.

NANAIMO — More than 200 soldiers trooped out a big concrete bunker near here Thursday after being sealed inside for 48 hours with "all the facilities of a hotel except the view."

The two-storey building, one of six army emergency headquarters in various stages of construction across Canada, was officially handed over by the contractors to the army after the 48-hour test.

A company official said there were no psychological problems with the confined men.

"The bunker has been human engineered," he said. "It has all the facilities of a hotel except the view."

"It has its own power and sewage plants and could run almost indefinitely once stocked."

DUNCAN — Thirty contestants are expected to participate in the Cowichan plowing match April 6 at the farm of Stanley Owen, Cowichan, Station.

The match will be opened by Agriculture Minister Frank Richter and judges will be brothers George and Henry Thomson of Chilliwack.

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held Saturday at First Funeral Chapel for Mrs. Edele Cathrina Gwilt, a resident of Duncan for the past 30 years, who died at King's Daughters' Hospital Tuesday.

Born in Denmark in 1879, Mrs. Gwilt came to Canada in 1929. She was a member of the Baptist Church Women's Institute.

She was pre-deceased by her husband, Charles, in 1953.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Thora Burgess, Vancouver; Mrs. Ada Weaver, Duncan; and Mrs. Esther Woods, Victoria; a son, Thomas Gwilt, Victoria; 10 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

DUNCAN — Tenders were awarded at a Cowichan School Board meeting Thursday for construction of a music room at Cowichan Senior Secondary School.

The lowest bid was from Cowichan Construction with $6,239.

The board will consider acquisition of a school site for future school development.

One offer made to the board asks for $700 for two acres of land, and another offer from the Cricket Club is $10,865 for the eight acres which were formerly the cricket grounds on Wharfedale Road. The board had previously expressed interest in buying the latter land.

GANGES — Mrs. Dennis Deacon was elected chairman of Salt Spring Island Recreation Commission at a recent annual meeting.

Other members include: Barney Lukas, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mrs. A. V. Bishop, Mrs. B. Hughes, Fred Hollings, Tom Butt, Robert Patterson, Ivor Ginn.

SIDNEY — A small municipal park at the foot of Verdier Avenue at Brentwood Bay is deteriorating because of the lack of attention and care, according to Mrs. J. R. Hardingham, 812 Verdier Avenue, and Roy Bullough, 7172 Brentwood Drive.

They told the Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce that visitors are launching boats from the beach at the park and in the process of getting their boats to the water from the road are breaking down the bank.

The chamber decided to recommend to Central Saanich council that proper fences be constructed around the property and that comfort stations be repaired and painted.

LOCAL BRIEFS

A few non-union barbers are charging $1 instead of the union rate of $1.50 for a haircut but there is no possibility of a price-war, Victoria Barbers' Union president Len Stephenson said Thursday.

He made the comment after Len Backman, whose shop is at 3456 Quadra, said his business began booming after he dropped his price to $1 this week.

Vickers Henderson, 1331 Vimy, was given a suspended sentence in Saanich police court Thursday for stealing five gallons of gasoline from a car March 3.

He also was placed on a $250 bond to be of good behavior for a period of six months.

Earlier he admitted stealing the gas in company with two juveniles when the car in which they were riding ran out of gas on Quadra Street.

Students of the Seventh-Day Adventist School at 1462 Hillside will present a program entitled "Education for Eternity" at its monthly home and school meeting Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

night, they were convinced the gains would be "in the bag."

NEW LIFE

The Thursday night show, led by Mr. Pearson, himself, scenting victory. After two days of Quebec campaigning which drew only moderate support, the London crowd put new life into his oratory.

"Without being boastful and without cockiness," he said, "I can say with confidence that our approach is getting across. We are going to win, and we'll put Canada on the road to progress again."

For the first third of his speech in the arena, Mr. Pearson ignored a pair of persistent Conservative hecklers, who waved a Red Ensign bearing black footprints labelled "Pearson Footprints," and who kept yelling, "We never had it so good."

Mr. Pearson decided to let it go no further. He laughed and turned serious said: "When I hear that for the third time, I tell you to ask that of the 541,000 people who are looking for work."

His supporters started a "We want Mike" chant. "The national debt has gone up by hundreds of millions of dollars," he continued. "If an average of six per cent unemployed is the Conservative standard for unemployment, then it isn't a standard we Liberals accept."

HITS 'VISION'

Mr. Pearson asserted his party was the only one which could form a stable and responsible majority government. This, he said, was why there were "three remarkable performances going on simultaneously in the three other political rings."

"They are all directed against the Liberal party," he said. "Why, in a political campaign it is a truism that everybody attacks, and tries to stop the front runner."

He spoke harshly of the "vision" held out to Canadians in the past campaigns by the prime minister.

"A few years ago," he said, "Everybody knew we were on the road to great achievement. A few years ago we were sold a great vision that would get us there much faster."

"The results are strange indeed, but they are now clear. Canadians were subjected to allurements of false prophets who told us that through some kind of financial juggling we would reach our objectives easily and without much effort."

SEEKS TORY VOTE

In a pitch for the Conservative vote, Mr. Pearson said no matter what one's political loyalties had been in the past, it was hard for Tory supporters to continue in support of a party "whose head cannot, even as prime minister, keep a cabinet together; it is hard to support a party whose ministers condemn their own, and whose leaders' actions of only yesterday the Liberal party was the answer," he said, because it had the men of the "highest capacity, experience and integrity as candidates, men who have made a success of their own lives and are making material sacrifices in entering politics in order to serve Canada at this difficult time in her history."

"We are not a party of one man with a diminished and divided team," Mr. Pearson said. "We are a party with a strong team."

FROM THE SPAR TREE

on Project 819, had been asked to appear as a witness.

"I believe I've found out where Mr. Lymburner is," Mr. McKenzie said. "The difficulty here is a practical one," pointing out that some people would have distances to travel.

"Is Mr. Lymburner here?" Mr. Nimsick asked.

"No, he is not," counsel replied.

The lawyer said he has had to face "hostile people in the corridor who are not anxious to spend the rest of their lives here."

This was a reference to other witnesses who had come to Victoria to give evidence and who wished to be heard as soon as possible.

Mr. Nimsick asked about Clyde Thornton, one of the contractors involved in Project 819.

Appears Monday

"Yes," Mr. McKenzie said. "He is coming here Sunday to appear Monday." He explained he did not want all witnesses here at the same time.

Randolph Harding moved the committee order an independent audit of the books of L and M Logging Co., Bonanza Construction, Mid-City Contractors, Continental Contractors, Union Contractors and the Free Bell Trust Account.

All have been mentioned previously as being connected with the project.

"I think we need counsel's advice," Waldo Skillings suggested.

"I would make it easier if we had some forewarning of these things," Mr. McKenzie said. "My horseback opinion is that the committee can make such an order, but whether it can order (the firms to produce their books) is questionable. The committee has no power of seizure," he said.

He said the request could be made for documents in British Columbia, in accordance with the standing orders of the legislature.

'Fancy Figures'

"There's some very fancy figures... the petty cash... I think we should know just where the money went," Mr. Harding said.

Mr. McKenzie interjected, "yes, yes," and Ian Horne, deputy clerk of the legislature, said he could seek whether the committee has power to demand books.

Mr. Campbell suggested tabling the motion until there is a further legal opinion and the motion passed with the usual 7-5 government majority.

Mr. Strachan took the chairman to task for the abrupt adjournment of the committee Wednesday night.

"I must protest the manner of dismissing the committee last night," he said. "It is customary for a motion to be passed for formal adjournment."

"It is customary also to have order. As long as we have turmoil I'm going to adjourn in that manner," Mr. Corbett replied.

"Did it occur to you that you might have contributed to the turmoil by conducting the committee in this manner? It was most improper for you to dismiss this committee summarily as you did last night," Mr. Strachan said.

'Intolerable'

"I think it was intolerable," added Liberal member Ray Perrault.

Highways department director of projects, E. C. Webster, was recalled to the witness stand.

Mr. McKenzie questioned him on contract estimates for Project 819 and asked him how often he had met Mr. Lymburner.

"I can't remember the number of times, but I did see him in the initial stages of the job... and in Victoria at various times," Mr. Webster said.

"Do you recall seeing him at any time prior to 819, or subsequently to 819, in connection with any other matter?"

The witness said no, was asked by Mr. McKenzie if he had seen Mr. Lymburner in connection with Project 1023 — the southern Trans-Provincial Highway near Summit Creek, and again replied no.

Mr. McKenzie asked if he had knowledge of 1023 with regard to contract mileage being increased from 5.2 miles in the first call for tenders to more than seven miles in the second call.

'Aware of That'

"I am aware of that," Mr. Webster said.

The committee counsel asked if he was in a position to comment on this.

"No, I am not," the witness said. "I understand it is explained in the copy of (items) in the public accounts."

He referred then to the highways department estimates for 1958-59.

Under questioning, Mr. Webster read figures showing that the lowest tender on Project 1023 was $640,966 by W. G. Arnett, and the highest was over $813,000 the first time tenders were called.

Bonanza Construction was seventh from the bottom with $782,903, and three bids were higher.

These bids were recalled and 2.25 miles were added to the original 5.2 miles.

"Why was that, Mr. Webster?" Mr. McKenzie asked.

"That I cannot answer. I have no idea, although it says (referring to the annual estimates) the length of the contract was altered."

In the second bidding, Bonanza bid $727,579, approximately $86,000 higher than the low tender on the first bidding.

"Is that correct?" Mr. McKenzie asked after repeating the information.

"That is correct."

"So Bonanza bid $55,000 less for more mileage and got the contract? Have you any idea why they did that?"

Mr. Webster indicated that this was the contractor's business.

"Bonanza was the only one to bid lower the second time?" counsel asked.

"That is correct," Mr. Webster said, and read the comparison of high and low tenders for both times, the second ranging from Bonanza's $727,579 to one by another firm for $929,652.

Mr. McKenzie noted a $200,000 spread between top and bottom.

Not Unusual

"I don't think that is out of the ordinary," the engineer said.

The committee spent a long time pouring over a "mysterious photostat" of a work sheet for Project 819.

Mr. Webster said it was not in the handwriting of the resident engineer, who supervised the project.

Figures were shifted from one column to another and crossed out on this sheet. The original work sheet signed by the engineer was produced and some of its figures differed from the "mystery document."

However, it was finally established that all the figures on the mystery sheet were on the work estimate sent by the engineer to Victoria. The revised figures on the mystery sheet were the same as the revised figures on the estimate.

Underestimated

Mr. Webster went on to explain that the highways department did not only hold back 15 per cent of money due to contractors, it also held back — or underestimated — certain quantities of work performed.

He also told Mr. McKenzie that sometimes payments for the cheaper "other material" moved on a job contained allowances for a percentage of rock it contained.

Opposition Leader Strachan then began his questioning.

Mr. Webster told him that there had been a policy change sometime in 1957 which speeded up payments to contractors by removing the holdbacks on performance.

Mr. Strachan asked if there were any detailed records of the day-to-day work on Project 819.

Mr. Webster said there had been a log book but it had been destroyed by Mr. Barclay. It would have contained records, he said, of any "pickups" — revisions of work done which increased estimates.

Mr. Strachan said any documents of that kind should only be destroyed by the public accounts committee's order.

Have Records

However, Mr. Webster assured his questioner that "we have records of all materials moved — we have cross sections on measurements in the field and taken in the field."

Was it customary to change estimates in Victoria, Mr. Strachan asked.

"No, it is not,"

Mr. Webster said he couldn't recall any particular previous job on which estimates had been changed.

He told Mr. Strachan that he believed he had been asked to do it by F. H. Brown, the chief engineer, after representations by Burton Lymburner. But he wasn't too sure it was Mr. Brown. He couldn't exactly recall what was said, either.

He did recall that Mr. Lymburner was unhappy with the classifications made by the engineer on the job.

He said he didn't talk to Mr. Lymburner about it, nor Mr. Gaglardi.

Ottawa Not Told

Mr. Strachan asked if the federal government — which participated in the project — was told of the changes.

"No sir."

Mr. Strachan referred the witness to the board of engineers who inspected Project 819 after expressions of discontent about classifications, referred to earlier by Mr. Webster as the "committee that grew."

"Mr. Peterson (F. H. Peterson, then federal supervisor of engineering on Trans-Canada Highway) and I were going to make an inspection trip in April of 1959," he said.

However, Mr. Peterson was unable to do it and we didn't make the trip until May. Meanwhile he made arrangements to have the others."

He said there were no measurements made.

"If they were not measuring, what procedure was being followed?"

"We went through every cut and Mr. Peterson and the others discussed the classifications that had been allowed in each. I offered no advice to the regional or construction engineers."

Logging Booms As Snow Hides

By JEAN BAIN

The future looks bright for the logging industry in the Cowichan Valley due to the lack of snow so far this winter.

Large companies in the area, including Western Forest Industries, B.C. Forest Products, Hillcrest Lumber, Mayo Lumber Company, MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River, and Comox Logging Company, report more production and fewer layoffs during January and February this year than for the same period in previous years.

Most companies report that they are logging to capacity and officials are hoping for a year of maximum production.

All six sawmills in the area are operating at a high level of employment. The normal working force of the industry at full production is 2,000 employees, and at the present time 1,962 men are steadily employed in mills in the area.

The Hillcrest mill at Mesachie Lake has put an extra shift in the gang mill employing about 20 men. It is about 18 months since this shift was laid off, but the company expects to have enough small logs on hand to operate the extra shift until the end of the year.

It is interesting to note a small paragraph from the IWA publication "The Lumber Worker" which informs readers that 25 years ago, a former B.C. logging worker Joachim von Ribbentrop, was promoted to the position of chief advisor to Hitler on foreign affairs.

The IWA, Local 180, will hold its annual meeting in the Odeon Theatre, at Duncan, Sunday, March 24, at 10 a.m.

Business will include nominations of local officers and electing various committees, including delegates to the Western Canadian Regional Council No. 1, IWA, safety delegates, delegates to the Alberni, Nanaimo and District Labor Council, the local balloting committee and the regional executive board members.

Local officers to be nominated include positions for president, first, second and third vice-president, financial secretary, recording secretary, warden, conductor and one three-year trustee.

The election of these officers by a referendum vote for the local will be held in April, and installation of members will take place in May.

Audience Forces Debate on N-Arms

By PETE LOUDON

The question of nuclear arms for Canada emerged as the central controversy at a Liberal Conservative election debate Thursday night.

It wasn't planned that way by the candidates - Tony George Chatterton and Grit Robert Ostler, Esquimalt-Saanich opponents.

Each downgraded the issue in their speeches.

But the audience of 75 took over and for more than half the meeting the voters pummeled them with both questions and free expression.

Several attempts by chairman Robert Chard to change the subject were ignored.

WHOSE FAULT?

The two candidates centred their speeches and rebuttals on the question of who was responsible for obstructing progress in the last Parliament.

But when the questioners at St. George the Martyr Church hall took over they indicated that Cadboro Bay people at least are more interested in the bomb, and the defence against it.

And they showed by their applause that they were equally divided in their support of the two major parties.

A woman who described herself as a mother said she wanted no nuclear arms.

Some condemned Liberal Leader Pearson for warring.

Others condemned Conservative Leader, Prime Minister Diefenbaker for waffling.

TM CONFUSED

When Mr. Ostler said the nuclear question is an emotional matter and it is not right to run an election campaign on that issue alone as the New Democratic Party is doing, a man cried out:

"We're talking about people being blown sky high."

One elderly man commented, "The debate waged on, it came here with an open mind. Now I'm confused."

Here are some of the an-

tracted:

Mr. Ostler:

"It's not true that Mr. Pearson can't make up his mind."

He said two years ago when Mr. Pearson stood against arming Canadians with nuclear weapons, the government had not made commitments to do so.

HONOR THEM

Now Canada is committed to this course. It must be honored, he said.

He said Mr. Pearson, a Nobel Peace prize winner, has demonstrated his opposition to war.

Mr. Ostler said by not accepting nuclear weapons, Canada would be in greater risk of nuclear devastation.

(The Liberal stand has been that the Bomarc missile, for instance, is too short-ranged for offensive war but would destroy attacking bombers.)

Mr. Ostler asked the audience, what is the alternative to nuclear arms - an isolationist Canada? It would mean withdrawing from any defence plan at all, he said.

MISTRUST

He said wars are caused by mistrust between nations. And other NATO countries would mistrust Canada if she didn't live up to her nuclear commitments.

Mr. Chatterton told questioners:

"We maintain we made no commitments."

He said the agreement between Canada and the U.S. is that no one country shall accept or give the other nuclear arms except in the event of war.

All Canada agreed to do was furnish her forces in NATO and NORAD with nuclear arms carriers. He said the U.S. has not yet determined how it can circumvent this policy to furnish Britain with the Skybolt missile as proposed in "a broad agreement" recently at Nassau.

INEFFECTIVE

He said also that Bomarc (an anti-aircraft nuclear defence weapon) is ineffective today in the age of intercontinental missiles.

He suggested Canada is being pressured into accepting nuclear weapons by other nations and said the ultimate decision must be made by the Canadian government, not by outside forces.

The questioners made an important secondary issue of the question of stable government.

Mr. Ostler said he didn't know his party's position.

TOO MUCH

But he said if another minority government results from the April 8 voting, "it is too much to expect Canada to face a fourth election in two years."

"Some effort would have to be made for a coalition of some sort."

He said if the Liberals form a minority government they should bring in legislation which the minor parties could support.

If his party was the opposition to a minority government he would feel compelled to uphold the government as long as the legislation warranted any support.

MOVE AHEAD

Mr. Chatterton, answering the same question, said even if a government has no majority, it still has a responsibility to put forward legislation it feels is in the national good.

"If we are in opposition I will promote the idea that we consider the legislation and not go back to the people just because we have a chance (of defeating the government)."

Both candidates were asked their opinions of whether Canada should join the Organization of American States.

Mr. Ostler said the Liberals have advocated this to strengthen North and South American ties against Communism.

Mr. Chatterton said Canada has Commonwealth responsibilities which the U.S. and South American countries do not have, so has held back on OAS membership.

"But recent events in South America may cause this position to be reconsidered," he added.

PROTESTANT SECTS HIT BY CASTRO

MIAMI (UPI) - Premier Castro charged Thursday that some Protestant religious groups in Cuba "are used as agents for the United States Central Intelligence agency and state department."

In a two-hour speech broadcast by Radio Havana, he said that the "conflicts" between his revolution and the Roman Catholic Church have virtually disappeared, but he hit out anew at Protestant groups, naming the Evangelists of Gideon, the Pentecostal Church, and Jehovah's Witnesses.

"Behind those sects are very national interests and class interests," he said. "And we began to observe, some time ago, the sudden activity of those sects which are directed directly from the United States, because they are not directed from Rome."

Alma Mater Societies of the Universities of British Columbia and Victoria

Ladies and Gentlemen - Citizens of B.C.:

The present action which is presently being carried out by the students of the Universities of British Columbia and Victoria is the result of thoughtful and responsible planning by students, faculty and alumni at both these institutions.

We feel that this is the time for you, the constituents of this Province, to decide on the fate of higher education here in British Columbia. High Education in our province faces a crisis. The Dr. John B. Macdonald Report on Higher Education has outlined recommendations which, if implemented, will overcome such a crisis. The onus is now on the appropriate governmental authorities to take such recommendations into account and to present suitable legislation for implementation. For the future of this Province, we feel it is imperative that this plan be adopted and therefore congratulate the Hon. Leslie Peterson on his recent stand in which he gave support for the Macdonald Report.

In the past, however, the Provincial Government has never provided the existing public institutions of higher learning with the funds both requested and desperately required. This is the immediate crisis which we are now confronted with. If higher education is to succeed in the future, a start must be made now by the Provincial Government in providing the requested operating grants to the University of B.C. and the University of Victoria.

If the Universities of this Province do not receive the funds requested this year, or if the present inadequacy of academic facilities is not alleviated, the inevitable consequences will be:

- considerably higher tuition fees will have to be paid
- the Province's present academic institutions will be reduced to a much lower standard than they have at present
- enrollment will have to be limited, thus preventing a considerable percentage of high school students from receiving a university education in British Columbia.

For these reasons, responsible students with the support and direction of the Alma Mater Societies at the University of B.C. and University of Victoria will be sacrificing classes this weekend to ask citizens in their home communities to support a fair deal for higher education in this Province. If you are asked by one of these students to sign a petition stressing the above, please greet him warmly and ask him questions on the situation - he will be glad to oblige. If, however, you are not approached by students, we would urge you to sign in the space below and send this letter to your Member of the Legislative Assembly in Victoria.

We urge you to give your whole-hearted support to our campaign.

Sincerely yours,

Douglas Stewart, President, Alma Mater Society University of B.C.	Malcolm Scott President-elect, Alma Mater Society, University of B.C.	Alf Pettersen, President, Alma Mater Society, University of Victoria

DEAR M.L.A.:

I fully support the stand which is being taken by the students at the Universities of British Columbia and Victoria and would ask you to fully support their stand in the Legislature at your earliest convenience.

In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

"Well," said Leo Nimsick after Thursday's clash between Highway Minister Gagliardi and the Opposition, "if we can now get down to earth..."

And this the down-to-earth NDP member for Cranbrook did, with a pitch for the Salmo-Creston cutoff, and a general appeal for an increased secondary road allotment.

It was a day for the country members, the men from the outer ridings. To ears bashed by considerable recent storm and strike, their speeches make pleasant listening.

Here is Dan Campbell for Comox rising on the government side to urge an up-Island ferry service which would coax more than the present four per cent of tourists to venture north of Nanaimo.

Why Not a Ferry?

The three-million-dollar upgrading project which will take the blacktop on from Campbell River to Kelsey Bay is soon to be completed, Mr. Campbell pointed out. So why not establish a ferry service between Kelsey Bay and Prince Rupert?

"I'm not just talking for my constituency," said Mr. Campbell; then went on to air the durable dream of a coast highway south from Rupert.

As an alternate, Mr. Campbell—not for the first time—proposed a Comox-Powell River ferry connection. What he visions is a year-round passenger and freight service. The reason so small a percentage of tourists go up-Island, he explained, is that they don't like to retrace the route to Nanaimo. A ferry from Comox would do away with the necessity to backtrack, and would also ease the Comox Valley farmer and dairyman's way to mainland markets.

Proceeds Headlong

Presently Don Robinson, SC for Lillooet, gets the floor. Mr. Robinson has an amiable way of proceeding headlong, as if he must deliver himself of his speech in a single breath.

A proper road from Lytton to Lillooet, Don Robinson wants, instead of the present tourist-scarer which he feels keeps his balliwick from his share of the summer pilgrim bonanza.

This and a new highway, "a post road," from Cache Creek to Vancouver.

Mr. Robinson, an inveterate story-teller, looks around with his wide smile, then yields the floor to a lady member we haven't much heard from—Mrs. Margaret Hobbs, NDP, Revelstoke.

Access From East

Mrs. Hobbs has a fine, clear voice. She urges a second access approach road for Revelstoke, one entering from the east. This would allow traffic to come in from one direction and leave by the other, and fewer motorists would detour down to the United States.

Special mention here for Alex Macdonald of Vancouver East, who gave us words worth hearing.

"The Nelson countryside is lovely," Mr. Macdonald said, rising after Municipal Affairs Minister Black had hailed industrial progress in his riding. "It is rural, bucolic—truly beautiful. So he (Mr. Black) wants it an industrial centre. Well, good luck to them, and I'd like to see them get their roads. But I'd also like to see this province progress to the point where rural areas aren't all sacrificed to industry."

"One beauty of this province," Mr. Macdonald concluded, "is that in it, we still have living room."

Britons Quit Africa State

MOGADISHU, Somalia (Reuters)—British embassy staff members packed their bags following the Somali Parliament's vote Thursday night to break off diplomatic relations with Britain.

TWO KILLED IN BLAST ON TEXADA ISLAND

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Two men were killed and a third was injured in a dynamite explosion in an iron ore quarry Thursday night on Texada Island, about 55 miles northwest of Vancouver.

RCMP said the three men, employees of Texada Mines Ltd., were preparing a dynamite blast about 11:20 p.m. in the quarry when the charge erupted.

Willis Leonard Roch of Texada Island and a second worker died in the blast which shook the quarry. The third man, whose name is being withheld, was taken by RCMP boat to hospital here in fairly good condition.

'ANOTHER STALL'

Gov't Blocks RCMP Report

By FRANK RUTTER

The B.C. government Thursday blocked a bid to put a secret RCMP report into the hands of the committee investigating highway graft allegations.

Attorney General Robert Bonner indicated approval will never be given.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan said it is obvious the government wants only a "perfunctory" investigation of the allegations.

"They're willing to gloss over material of this kind."

The report concerns Project 819, the section of Trans-Canada Highway which sparked the allegations by Montana contractor Dick Holzworth.

The House committee on public accounts, assisted by a lawyer, is hearing the case. Chairman Irvine Corbett (SC—Yale) asked leave of the House Thursday for the committee to get the RCMP report and study it in camera.

Mr. Corbett and another So-red, Dan Campbell of Comox, had bolted party ranks in the committee to support the request.

'PUBLIC POLICY'

But Mr. Bonner turned it down flat in the House.

"Have to oppose—public policy," was his terse rejection.

"Another stall," cried Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan).

"Shocking," said Dave Barrett (Dewdney).

Mr. Bonner later told reporters that it was normal that in any procedure a police report goes only to the prosecuting attorney, or the advising lawyer—never to the judge or tribunal involved.

In this case the only person who has seen the report is the committee counsel, Lloyd G. McKenzie.

FOR GUIDANCE

This was for his guidance in seeking witnesses, Mr. Bonner said. It was a "very special professional responsibility."

The report was not evidence, it was hearsay, Mr. Bonner said.

"The people of this committee don't understand the position they're putting themselves in."

"Every concept of fair play and due procedure is violated by this."

The report contains names of many people who talked to the police about "an unrelated matter."

"Police reports are not published as a matter of public policy."

"In the hands of an unscrupulous government could go around blackguarding everyone in sight."

"I don't recall anything which throws any light on the padding of accounts."

"It is obvious the government does not want the full light of publicity to fall on the affairs under investigation," Mr. Strachan said.

"It is evident, further, that the government itself are prepared to put any block they can in the way of members of the committee in obtaining the fullest possible information on Project 819."

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"I prayed, 'Dear God, help me.' I knew there was very much danger."

"I guess it was just God's will that Mrs. Edwards found a gap in the heavy traffic," said a policeman who saw the hair-raising ride.

LAC MEGANTIC, Que. (CP)—Henri Latulippe, seeking reelection as Social Credit MP for Compton-Frontenac, suffered a broken nose and facial injuries when he was attacked while trying to explain his party's policies.

Mr. Latulippe said the attack occurred Tuesday night in a hotel in nearby Cookshire where he and some supporters stopped for refreshments after making a television appearance in Sherbrooke.

He said a man asked him to explain Social Credit doctrines and while he was answering two other men who had been sitting with the questioner attacked him.

Crippling Rail Strike Hits France

ONE DEAD, FOUR HURT BY TERRORIST BOMB

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A French businessman was killed and at least three Americans, two Vietnamese servants and two Vietnamese children were injured in terrorist grenade explosions here tonight.

The Frenchman was killed and the Americans and servants injured in a blast at a villa, where an American businessman, Douglas Campbell, was holding a party.

The grenade was reported thrown by two young men on a motorcycle speeding past the villa.

350,000 Walk Out

PARIS (Reuters)—A 24-hour strike by railroad workers today almost paralysed transportation in France, already hard hit by long walkouts of miners and gas workers and lightning work stoppages in other industries.

The rail strike, which began at 4 a.m., was reported between 80 and 100 per cent effective in various parts of the country.

The stoppage by the 350,000 railroad workers brought the number of Frenchmen on strike to more than 600,000.

Hardest hit was Paris where big traffic jams built up as commuters headed for work by car instead of rail.

The rail strike was called in protest against a government decision to send claims for higher wages and shorter work weeks to a newly-established committee of "wise men" overseeing wages in state-run industries.

The railroad unions claimed this move would delay the negotiations, which previously were being conducted through a special mixed commission.

The new committee also has been charged with negotiating with 240,000 striking coal miners, now in the 15th day of a strike for higher wages.

CALL IT VICTORY

The coal miners, however, regard as a victory for their cause the government decision Wednesday to set up the new committee, which will report on the gap between wages in state-run industries, particularly the coal mines, and private enterprise.

Other unions have rallied behind the coal miners and staged a series of brief sympathy strikes in recent days.

Thousands of workers in the engineering and chemical industries stopped work Thursday to express solidarity with the miners as well as to press their own claims for higher wages.

The rail workers are seeking pay increases to make up a 10-per-cent lag behind private industry, a two-hour cut in their present 46-hour work week and improved pensions.

Their strike decision was announced Thursday night and was backed by the four railroad workers unions—Catholics, Socialists, Independent and Communist-led.

Arms Hunt In Congo

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—United Nations troops searched the rail yards of this Katanga province capital during the night for 10 freight cars believed to be filled with arms and equipment for Katanga gendarmes and mercenaries camped near the Angola border.

The search led to the discovery of three sealed freight cars loaded with airplane parts, but the 10 cars were not located.

Jaime Valdes, UN assistant representative in Katanga, immediately ordered all rail and road freight traffic out of Elisabethville halted "until further notice." Ethiopian soldiers were placed on guard.

Desperate Bid Fails To Save Man

PRINCETON (CP)—University of B.C. students taking their education campaign to the Interior made a desperate attempt near here Thursday to save a man's life.

A busload of them was heading to Nelson seeking names for a petition when they encountered a wrecked front-end loader, its driver critically injured.

Robert Parkinson, 20, was bleeding and near death.

Angus Whitmore of Nelson immediately began mouth-to-mouth respiration, and Denis De Jong applied pressure to Parkinson's leg to stop blood flowing from a two-foot laceration.

Denis Stanley of Nakusp and John Cairns of Nelson held the crowd back and sent a motorist to contact police.

Parkinson seemed to revive, but died in an ambulance on the way to hospital here.

The students were bent on gathering names for their petition asking the provincial government to meet the operating costs in the UBC budget.

Police said a trailer-truck hit the loader on the side, upsetting the vehicle and throwing Parkinson onto the highway.

DEAL WITH ISSUES

"By the 'hard line,' he said, he meant that a hard approach had to be taken because Canada's problems were serious, with financial affairs in "disorder."

The London demonstration of Liberal support caused jubilation among Liberal party officials. They said they had taken a big gamble, trying to fill the arena as the prime minister had done when he opened his campaign here in the 1962 election.

The rally, as was Mr. Diefenbaker's last year, was advertised as a "western Ontario rally, drawing on the 23 constituencies of southwestern Ontario for support."

Of those 23 ridings, the Liberals won nine in 1962, with the Tories winning 14; this was a loss of eight by the Tories.

This is one area in which the Liberals have been hoping to make further significant gains from the Conservatives on April 8. After Thursday

CAMPAIGN CATCHES FIRE

8,000 Cheer
Liberal ChiefBy ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

LONDON, Ont. — The Pearson election campaign caught fire Thursday night in this centre of what has been known as "Tory Ontario."

More than 8,000 persons—by far the largest turnout attracted by the Liberal leader in this campaign—cheered and applauded Mr. Pearson at three separate meetings.

An estimated 6,300 jammed the London Arena, the city's largest hall, while some 2,000 others were kept out by civic officials who said more overcrowding would create a fire hazard. So the Liberal party hastily hired the auditorium and cafeteria of London South Collegiate, half a mile from the arena, to accommodate the overflow audience.

After delivering his speech to the main arena rally, Mr. Pearson then visited the collegiate to deliver two more speeches—one in the school auditorium and one in the cafeteria.

He was rewarded with enthusiastic response, enlivened by heckling from a handful of critics in the arena crowd, at all three meetings.

He found general approval for his declaration that his approach to the campaign was "the hard line and the high line."

STRONG CRITICISM

Without mentioning Mr. Diefenbaker by name, Mr. Pearson delivered some of his most cutting criticisms of the campaign at the prime minister. "Performances" and "shows" were only a minor part of a campaign, he said. People were less concerned with "manufactured martyrdom" than they were with who could best manage the nation's affairs.

"I don't refer to these Canadians we hope to help as the 'little man' or 'common man' who are 'all on my side,'" he said, in an apparent response to the claim by Mr. Diefenbaker that everybody is against him but the people and to the Diefenbaker assertion that he is accused of doing too much for the little man.

"I am concerned," said Mr. Pearson, "to put public integrity above party considerations. The people of Canada are expecting that. They are taking this election very seriously, indeed."

DEAL WITH ISSUES

In taking the "high line," he said, he meant that he intended to deal with "the issues rather than with personalities to tell the truth, even if it is at times unpleasant."

'ANOTHER STALL'

Gov't Blocks
RCMP Report

By FRANK RUTTER

The B.C. government Thursday blocked a bid to put a secret RCMP report into the hands of the committee investigating highway graft allegations.

Attorney General Robert Bonner indicated approval will never be given.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan said it is obvious the government wants only a "perfunctory" investigation of the allegations.

"They're willing to gloss over material of this kind," he said. The report concerns Project 819, the section of Trans-Canada Highway which sparked the allegations by Montana contractor Dick Holzworth.

The House committee on public accounts, assisted by a lawyer, is hearing the case. Chairman Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale) asked leave of the House Thursday for the committee to get the RCMP report and study it in camera.

Mr. Corbett and another So-Cred, Dan Campbell of Comox, had bolted party ranks in the committee to support the request.

"PUBLIC POLICY"

But Mr. Bonner turned it down flat in the House.

"Have to oppose — public policy," was his terse rejection.

"Another stall," cried Randolph Harding (NDP — Kaslo-Slocan).

"Shocking," said Dave Barrett (Dewdney).

Mr. Bonner later told reporters that it was normal that in any procedure a reporting attorney, or the advising lawyer—never to the judge or tribunal, involved.

In this case the only person who has seen the report is the committee counsel, Lloyd G. McKenzie.

FOR GUIDANCE

This was for his guidance in seeking witnesses, Mr. Bonner said. It was a "very special professional responsibility."

"I don't recall anything which throws any light on the padding of accounts."

"It is evident, further, that the government itself are prepared to put any block they can in the way of members of the committee in obtaining the fullest possible information on Project 819."

FOR PAST WORK

Figure Change
Called 'Pickup'

By FRANK RUTTER and AB KENT

Heatings into highway graft charges have been adjourned until Monday after new protests that the government is trying to block evidence.

Thursday night highway construction director E. C. Webster was cross-examined by Opposition leader Robert Strachan on why there was an increase in amounts due a contractor, and why a certain firm won a contract after initial bids were rejected.

It was the sixth hearing of the legislature's public accounts committee and it played to a full house again at the Law courts.

When the hearings resume, the opposition members of the 13-man committee are expected to continue tackling Mr. Webster on Montana contractor Dick Holzworth's charges that figures were changed to allow payment for work never done.

Mr. Webster says the changes were to allow a "pickup" of some $100,000 for past work. Mr. Strachan Thursday challenged him on how much extra could have been done, but did not complete his questioning.

The hearing opened with some 50 standees clogging the two aisles in court room D, where earlier arrivals filled the 80 public seats.

Leo Nimsick (NDP—Cranbrook) asked if there had been any action regarding the appearance of two RCMP witnesses to the hearing—the two officers who investigated alleged malpractices in connection with highway contracts.

"Not yet," chairman Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale) replied, asking secretary Dan Campbell (SC-Comox) whether letters had been written to the men, and whether committee counsel Lloyd McKenzie had been in touch with them.

Canada's Extremes

High-Victoria, 49
Low—Fort St. John, B-15Swedes Down
Smokies 4-1

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Defending champion Sweden knocked Canada out of the world hockey championships today, defeating Trail Smoke Eaters 4-1 in a crucial sixth-round game.

The Swedes needed only a tie against Czechoslovakia Sunday to nail down their second world crown in succession.

Period scores were 1-0, 0-1, 3-0.

The victory was Sweden's sixth straight of the 10-day tournament and gave it a total of 12 points. A tie with the Czechs would boost the Swedish point total to 13 and put the title out of the reach of the only remaining contender, Russia.

The Russians blanked the United States 9-0 today. If the Soviets win against Canada in the final game of the tournament Sunday, they would have a total of 12 points. Of course, a Swedish loss Sunday coupled with a Russian win would leave both countries deadlocked with 12 points.

GOAL SPREAD DECIDES

In that case, the goal spread—difference between goals scored and goals allowed—would determine the winner. But only the scores of the games involving the top five teams would count and fifth place still is undecided.

The loss was Canada's first in the tournament but it also had a 4-4 tie against Czechoslovakia. Even if Canada wins against Russia, the most points it could garner is 11.

Russia took over second place in the top bracket with five wins and one loss—to Sweden 2-1—for a total of 10 points. Canada, with four wins, one loss and a tie, had nine points and was tied for third place with Czechoslovakia.

The Czechs defeated Finland 5-2 today and have four wins, one loss—to Russia 3-1—and a tie.

Ulf Sterner was the hero of the Swedish victory. He scored three goals. Sven (Tumba) Johansson got the other Swedish goal. Defenceman Don Fletcher scored for the Smoke Eaters late in the second period when the Swedes were short a man.

CAN'T CATCH SWEDES

Canada previously defeated West Germany 6-0, East Germany 11-5, the United States 10-4, Finland 12-2 and tied the Czechs. The Smoke Eaters and the Czechs can't catch the Swedes because they are three points behind the defending champions after six games in the seven-game round-robin.

Sweden previously defeated East Germany 5-1, Finland 4-0, the United States 17-2 and West Germany 10-2 in addition to the upset over Russia.

A deafening roar from the sellout crowd of 16,000 in the new indoor Johanneshov Stadium broke out when Sterner and Hans Mild combined for what proved to be the winning goal after a little more than 13 minutes of the third period.

Norm Lenardon, given a minor for elbowing, was barely in the penalty box when Mild fished the puck from a scramble. He flipped it back to Sterner who scored from nine feet. Sterner and Mild had produced the first Swedish goal.

HOUSE

"Well," said Leo Nimsick after Thursday's clash between Highways Minister Gagliardi and the Opposition, "if we can now get down to earth..."

And this the down-to-earth NDP member for Cranbrook did, with a pitch for the Salmo-Creston cutoff, and a general appeal for an increased secondary road allotment.

It was a day for the country members, the men from the outer ridings. To ears bashed by considerable recent storm and strike, their speeches make pleasant listening.

Here is Dan Campbell for Comox rising on the government side to urge an up-Island ferry service which would coax more than the present four per cent of tourists to venture north of Nanaimo.

Why Not a Ferry?

The three-million-dollar upgrading project which will take the blackout on from Campbell River to Kelsey Bay is soon to be completed. Mr. Campbell pointed out. So why not establish a ferry service between Kelsey Bay and Prince Rupert?

"I'm not just talking for my constituency," said Mr. Campbell; then went on to air the durable dream of a coast highway south from Rupert.

As an alternate, Mr. Campbell—not for the first time—proposed a Comox-Powell River ferry connection. What he visions is a year-round passenger and freight service. The reason so small a percentage of tourists go up-Island, he explained, is that they don't like to retrace the route to Nanaimo. A ferry from Comox would do away with the "necessity to backtrack," and would also ease the Comox Valley farmer and dairymen's way to mainland markets.

TWO KILLED IN BLAST ON TEXADA ISLAND

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — Two men were killed and a third was injured in a dynamite explosion in an iron ore quarry Thursday night on Texada Island, about 55 miles northwest of Vancouver.

RCMP said the three men, employees of Texada Mines Ltd., were preparing a dynamite blast about 11:20 p.m. in the quarry when the charge erupted.

Willis Leonard Roch of Texada Island and a second worker died in the blast which shook the quarry. The third man, whose name is being withheld, was taken by RCMP boat to hospital here in fairly good condition.

Presently Don Robinson, SC for Lillooet, gets the floor. Mr. Robinson has an amiable way of proceeding, as if he must deliver himself of his speech in a single breath.

A proper road from Lytton to Lillooet, Don Robinson wants, instead of the present tourist-scarer which he feels keeps his bailiwick from his share of the summer pilgrim bonanza.

This and a new highway, "a post road," from Cache Creek to Vancouver.

Mr. Robinson, an inveterate story-teller, looks around with his wide smile, then yields the floor to a lady member we haven't much heard from—Mrs. Margaret Hobbs, NDP, Revelstoke.

Access From East

Mrs. Hobbs has a fine, clear voice. She urges a second access approach road for Revelstoke, one entering from the east. This would allow traffic to come in from one direction and leave by the other, and fewer motorists would detour down to the United States.

Special mention here for Alex Macdonald of Vancouver East, who gave us words worth heeding.

"The Nelson countryside is lovely," Mr. Macdonald said, rising after Municipal Affairs Minister Black had hailed industrial progress in his riding. "It is rural—bucolic—truly beautiful. So he—Black—wants it an industrial centre. Well, good luck to them, and I'd like to see them get their roads. But I'd also like to see this province progress to the point where rural areas aren't all sacrificed to industry."

"One beauty of this province," Mr. Macdonald concluded, "is that in it, we still have living room."

PEARSON

night, they were convinced the gains would be in the bag."

The Thursday night showing had Mr. Pearson, himself, scenting victory. After two days of Quebec campaigning which drew only moderate support, the London crowd put new life into his oratory.

"Without being boastful and without cockiness," he said, "I can say with confidence that our approach is getting across. We are going to win, and we'll put Canada on the road to progress again."

For the first third of his speech in the arena, Mr. Pearson ignored a pair of persistent Conservative hecklers, who waved a Red Ensign bearing black footprints labelled "Pearson Footprints," and who kept yelling, "We never had it so good."

Mr. Pearson decided to let it go no further. He laughed and turning serious said: "When I hear that for the third time, I tell you to ask that of the 541,000 people who are looking for work."

His supporters started a "We want Mike" chant. "The national debt has gone up by hundreds of millions of dollars," he continued. "If an average of six per cent unemployment is the Conservative standard, for unemployment, then it isn't a standard we Liberals accept."

HITS 'VISION'

Mr. Pearson asserted his party was the only one which could form a stable and responsible majority government. This, he said, was why there were "three remarkable performances going on simultaneously in the three other political rings."

"They are all directed against the Liberal party," he said. "Why, in a political campaign it is a truism that everybody attacks, and tries to stop the front runner."

He spoke harshly of the "vision" held out to Canadians in the past campaigns by the prime minister.

"A few years ago," he said, "Everybody knew we were on the road to great achievement. A few years ago we were sold a great vision that would get us there much faster."

"The results are strange indeed, but they are now clear. Canadians were subjected to allurements of false prophets who told us that through some kind of financial juggling we would reach our objectives easily and without much effort."

In a pitch for the Conservative vote, Mr. Pearson said no matter what one's political loyalties had been in the past, it was hard for Tory supporters to continue in support of a party "whose head cannot, even as prime minister, keep a cabinet together; it is hard to support a party whose ministers condemn their own, and their leaders' actions of only yesterday the Liberal party was the answer," he said, because it had the men of the "highest capacity, experience and integrity as candidates, men who have made a success of their own lives and are making material sacrifices in entering politics in order to serve Canada at this difficult time in her history."

"We are not a party of one man with a diminished and divided team," Mr. Pearson said. "We are a party with a strong team."

with two minutes left of the first period that gave the Swedes a 1-0 lead. Fletcher tied it up for Canada late in the second period while defenceman Nils Johansson was serving a minor.

Sterner scored his third goal at 18:23 when he swooped down the ice from the blue line and scored from about nine feet after a brilliant solo.

Then Tumba Johansson made 4:1 for Sweden with another fine individual effort just 45 seconds from the end.

The Swedes clearly had a wide margin of the play. They pounded Martin, who had pain-killing injections for an injured back, with 17 shots in the first period alone.

In shots on goal, Sweden had better than a two-to-one margin—44 to 17.

Martin, who has allowed 19 goals in six games, made a total of 40 saves while Lennart Hagroth, star of the Swedish title triumph last year at Colorado Springs, Colo., had 16.

It was Hagroth who stopped Galt Terriers last year when Sweden beat them 5-3.

on Project 819, had been asked to appear as a witness.

"I believe I've found" out where Mr. Lymburner is," Mr. McKenzie said. "The difficulty here is a practical one," pointing out that some people would have distances to travel.

"Is Mr. Lymburner here?" Mr. Nimsick asked.

"No, he is not," counsel replied.

The lawyer said he has had to face "hostile people in the corridor who are not anxious to spend the rest of their lives here."

This was a reference to other witnesses who had come to Victoria to give evidence and who wished to be heard as soon as possible.

Mr. Nimsick asked about Clyde Thornton, one of the contractors involved in Project 819.

Appears Monday

"Yes," Mr. McKenzie said. "He is coming here Sunday to appear Monday." He explained he did not want all witnesses here at the same time.

Randolph Harding moved the committee order an independent audit of the books of L and M Logging Co., Bonanza Construction, Mid-City Contractors, Continental Contractors, Union Contractors and the Fred Bell Trust Account.

All have been mentioned previously as being connected with the project.

"I think we need counsel's advice," Waldo Skillings suggested.

"It would make it easier if we had some forewarning of these things," Mr. McKenzie said. "My horseback opinion is that the committee can make such an order, but whether it can order (the firms to produce their books) is questionable. The committee has no power of seizure," he said.

He said the request could be made for documents in British Columbia, in accordance with the standing orders of the legislature.

'Fancy Figures'

"There's some very fancy figures . . . the petty cash . . . I think we should know just where the money went," Mr. Harding said.

Mr. McKenzie interjected, "Yes, yes," and Ian Horne, deputy clerk of the legislature, said he could seek whether the committee has power to demand books.

Mr. Campbell suggested tabling the motion until there is a further legal opinion and the motion passed with the usual 7-5 government majority.

Mr. Strachan took the chairman to task for the abrupt adjournment of the committee Wednesday night.

"I must protest the manner of dismissing the committee last night," he said. "It is customary for a motion to be passed for formal adjournment."

"It is customary also to have order. As long as we have turmoil I'm going to adjourn in that manner," Mr. Corbett replied.

"Did it occur to you that you might have contributed to the turmoil by conducting the committee in this manner? It was most improper for you to dismiss this committee summarily as you did last night," Mr. Strachan said.

'Intolerable'

"I think it was intolerable," added Liberal member Ray Perrault.

Highways department director of projects, E. C. Webster, was recalled to the witness stand.

Mr. McKenzie questioned him on contract estimates for Project 819 and asked him how often he had met Mr. Lymburner.

"I can't remember the number of times, but I did see him in the initial stages of the job . . . and in Victoria at various times," Mr. Webster said.

"Do you recall seeing him at any time prior to 819, or subsequently to 819, in connection with any other matter?"

The witness said no, was asked by Mr. McKenzie if he had seen Mr. Lymburner in connection with Project 1023—the southern Trans-Provincial Highway near Summit Creek, and again replied no.

Mr. McKenzie asked if he had knowledge of 1023 with regard to contract mileage being increased from 5.2 miles in the first call for tenders to more than seven miles in the second call.

'Aware of That'

"I am aware of that," Mr. Webster said.

The committee counsel asked if he was in a position to comment on this.

"No, I am not," the witness said. "I understand it is explained in the copy of (items) in the public accounts."

He referred then to the highways department estimates for 1958-59.

Under questioning, Mr. Webster read figures showing that the lowest tender on Project 1023 was $640,966 by W. G. Arnett, and the highest was over $813,000 the first time tenders were called.

Bonanza Construction was seventh from the bottom with $782,903, and three bids were higher.

These bids were recalled and 2.25 miles were added to the original 5.2 miles.

"Why was that, Mr. Webster?" Mr. McKenzie asked.

"That I cannot answer. I have no idea, although it says an adequate evaluation of the work."

"From the evidence of material . . . and the opinion of Mr. Barclay (E. H. Barclay, then resident engineer) and the others it was possible to make a very good assessment," Mr. Webster said.

Mr. Strachan then read long lists of figures of rock and other material moved from a series of estimate and work sheets.

All the figures, except those for the first month of the project seemed to be "exact," he said. Mr. Webster, however, said they could be "rough."

Mr. Strachan pointed out that a figure of more than 20,000 cubic yards was taken to a digit of five.

Mr. Strachan read figures which showed the maximum previously moved was 13,000 in any one month.

He asked Mr. Webster if 20 per cent would be the maximum amount of holdback on such material. The witness agreed it could be. In that case, Mr. Strachan said, the maximum possible pickup for work previously done could only be some 2,500 cubic yards.

Skills Upset

"I object most strenuously to this kind of inquisition of a senior official," protested Waldo Skillings (SC—Victoria).

"I want to express my disapproval."

But Mr. Strachan was allowed to continue.

"Even in your 20 per cent it couldn't be more than 3,000 cubic rock or other material to add to what was actually done during the month of the fourth estimate," Mr. Strachan suggested.

"Then the work was done in the month of October," Mr. Webster said.

Mr. Strachan recalled that the day before Mr. Webster produced a lot of equipment which the contractor was supposed to have on the job.

"Was there no indication the equipment was actually working?"

"Mr. Holzworth had contended there was not enough equipment to do the work."

Mr. Strachan said that in fact, according to other documents tabled in the legislature some time ago there were foreclosures on the contractor and he had trouble with his machinery during the period of September to November.

Mr. Strachan started to ask Mr. Webster why Estimate No. 4 was so high, when Donald Brother (SC—Trail) moved adjournment until Monday.

Russians Hedge On Troop Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union appears to have fallen behind in fulfillment of its promise to get several thousand troops out of Cuba by mid-March but indications are that a large group will be leaving Havana this weekend.

For the last several days normally well-informed officials have declined to discuss numbers of troops that have left Cuba so far. The problem appears to be one of analyzing and checking intelligence reports to determine exactly what has happened.

According to the best information available in official quarters here, the situation is this:

Since the removal promise was made to the United States Feb. 18, about 1,800 or 1,900 persons have left Cuba on four Soviet ships. The latest of those vessels to sail, the Gruzia, left Havana Sunday. It was reported by the Russian Communist party newspaper Pravda to be carrying aviation mechanics, artillery experts, engineering troops and tank soldiers.

Another Soviet ship, the 15,286-ton Admiral Jajimov, is in Havana Harbor and there are reports in the Cuban capital it will depart this weekend with about 2,000 Russian military specialists.

Bidault Won't Trade Inaction for Safety

STEINBACH, West Germany (AP)—Former French premier Georges Bidault said today he will not trade his political struggle for security. He added that he still considers himself the leader of the opposition to President de Gaulle.

Bidault was interviewed shortly after Bavarian authorities announced he would have to agree to sharp restrictions if he wants asylum in West Germany. Bavarian Interior Minister Heinrich Junker had said such conditions would include limitation of his movements and a permanent police escort.

"I am rather hesitant to make any comment," Bidault said. "But I will certainly not trade political activity for security."

"I am the leader of the Council of National Resistance; I am the boss of it all."

Shot to Death

ROME (AP)—American lyric soprano Frances McCann, 42, was found shot to death today just inside the locked door of her hotel room.

Police said she was shot by Ernest Boxmann, a German-born resident of New York. They said Boxmann then fired a bullet into his own head.

He was taken to hospital in critical condition.
